INJUNCTION TRY NEXT IN TRANSIT STRIKE?

QUEBEC (CP)—Acting Premier Paul Dozois called an emergency session of the provincial cabinet for today to deal with the strike by 6,000 Montreal bus and subway workers.

Sources close to the government said the cabinet was thinking in terms of a court injunction rather than special legislation to end the strike against the Montreal Transportation Commission that began September 21.

The government's action followed rejection Monday night by the five unions represented by the Confederation of National Trade Unions of its proposal for an immediate resumption of work pending compulsory arbitration.

The government said the strike had reached a critical stage and must be brought to an end.

LEADING GUERRILLAS

Guevara Slain In Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—Bolivia today officially announced the death of Ernesto (Che) Guevara, revolutionary and former right-hand man of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, in a battle with United States-trained Bolivian rangers.

A communique from the Bolivian armed forces said Guevara was one of seven guerrillas shot and killed in the clash Sunday at Higuera, between Alto Seco and Vallegrande in southeast Bolivia.

Four of the guerrillas slain were of Cuban nationality, the official statement reported.

The statement was the first official confirmation of Guevara's death, rumored since news of the Higuera clash was first made public.

The communique said the rangers captured Guevara's personal field diary as well as.

SOVIET

Defence Budget Boosted

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Kremlin today announced a 15-per-cent increase in Russian defence spending for 1968 because of international tension and the need to boost aid to other countries.

Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov told the Supreme Soviet, Russia's Parliament, that defence expenditures would rise to 16,700,000,000 rubles ($18,700,000,000) in 1968 from 14,500,000,000 rubles ($16,200,000,000) this year.

The 1966-67 U.S. defence budget was $67,000,000,000 and President Johnson has asked a $72,300,000,000 defence allotment for the 1967-68 fiscal year.

Although Moscow recently signed a new aid agreement under which it would send North Vietnam more rockets, planes and other equipment, Garbuzov did not single out Hanoi as a recipient of military aid.

But, explaining the allocation of 13.5 per cent of the total budget to defence, Garbuzov said "international tension calls for greater attention to the strengthening of the defence potential."

LARGEST IN A YEAR

The increase, largest boost to military spending in one year by the Kremlin, was made necessary by the need to increase assistance to other countries, the finance minister said.

He was speaking to a joint session of the two houses of the Supreme Soviet.

In addition to the budget, the 1,517 delegates were expected to give assent to a state plan for 1968 and a bill on military service believed to reduce the period served to two from three years.

The total budget for 1968 provided for revenue of 123,800,000,000 rubles ($138,600,000,000)—or an increase of 8.3 per cent compared with this year.

Expenditure during 1968 will total 123,500,000,000 rubles ($138,300,000,000).

The defence increase was only 0.3 per cent as a total of the over-all budget.

INCOME HIGHER

Garbuzov also announced that income for 1967 would be 115,000,000,000 rubles ($128,800,000,000) or four per cent more than envisaged in the 1967 budget approved by the Supreme Soviet in December.

Expenditure also was higher than originally budgeted for, reaching 114,000,000,000 rubles ($127,700,000,000) instead of 109,900,000,000 rubles ($123,080,000,000).

The increase in defence spending was disclosed in budget figures which Western experts believe hide other military spending.

The 1968 total announced today of 16,700,000,000 rubles represents perhaps half of the expected Soviet military expenditure for next year, on the basis of Western analyses of Soviet budgetary practice.

CASTELLANI GIRL HURT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jeanne Castellani, 13, daughter of a man sentenced to be hanged Jan. 23 for the arsenic poisoning of his wife, was in only fair condition in a hospital today.

The girl, a key witness at her father's trial, was hit by a police car chasing a traffic violator Saturday on a rain-slicked street. She suffered a broken arm, a broken leg and face cuts when she was thrown 95 feet by the impact. Two companions with the girl were not hit.

Rene Castellani was convicted last week by a Supreme Court jury on a capital murder charge.

Monument To Pro-Nazi Unveiled

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI)—Premier John Vorster unveiled a monument today to a leader of a pro-Nazi organization who led a militant struggle against South Africa's participation in the Second World War on the side of the Allies.

It was one of Vorster's most controversial actions since becoming premier 13 months ago.

The monument honoring the late Dr. Hans van Rensburg, commandant general of the Ossewa Brandwag (Oswagon Sentinal) organization, stands in a cemetery in Lyttelton near Pretoria.

Van Rensburg was administrator (governor) of Cape and Orange Free State provinces and an outspoken admirer of Hitler. He gave up public life to lead the militant struggle against South Africa's participation in the war on the side of the Allies.

QUEBEC (CP)—Creditistes have launched a campaign to present a common front in federal politics with the Social Credit party—based on Social Credit ideas.

The two-day convention of the Creditiste party, which broke away from the Social Credit party a few years ago, formed plans during the weekend for a meeting in Ottawa Nov. 4-5 of Social Credit and Creditiste members of Parliament.

The convention agreed to push for acceptance of Social Credit policies in all 10 provinces regardless of whether the Quebec-based Creditistes are reunited with Social Credit.

Real Caouette, Creditiste party leader, told the 550 delegates that "if the four members from the West do not wish to unite, we will go over their heads."

Creditistes now have eight members in the 265-seat Commons with the Social Credit members comprising half that total.

OTTAWA GATHERING

The delegates chose Raymond Langlois, MP for Megantic, and Ronald Sibbald, deputy leader of the Social Credit party in Ontario, to arrange for the Ottawa gathering of both groups.

Mr. Langlois said Creditistes may present candidates in Western Canada now represented by Social Credit members in the next federal election if the Social Credit members do not come to terms with it.

However, both Mr. Caouette and Mr. Langlois said they are confident that the November meeting will result in a reunion of the two groups at the national convention in mid-April.

Mr. Langlois said a tour of Ontario and the Western provinces in September, 1966, showed that Social Credit associations in those parts of Canada solidly backed Mr. Caouette.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia was "100 per cent" behind the Creditiste leader, Mr. Langlois added.

The delegates agreed that a national leader of a reunited party should be chosen at the mid-April convention planned for either Toronto or Ottawa.

U.K. Plan Vetoed

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters)—Israel has rejected a British proposal that it withdraw its troops from Arab territory in return for United Nations guarantees of its security, it was reported today.

Victim in Pool

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said today a man whose body was found in a pool of water at Stanley Park Monday may have been killed elsewhere, dragged along a park trail and dumped. A spokesman said it appeared David Schuffenhauer, 20, of Vancouver, was strangled, possibly with a thin rope.

De Gaulle Victory

PARIS (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle's government today virtually won a showdown parliamentary debate when all majority factions announced they will stand by the government as one man.

Barracks Bombed

SAIGON (Reuters)—U.S. aircraft have bombed a previously restricted North Vietnamese barracks area near Haiphong, which included a helicopter and ground-to-air missile assembly plants, a U.S. spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the large North Vietnamese military barracks three miles from Haiphong was bombed for the first time Monday and again today.

No Time To Launch Lifeboats

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Ships and planes converged on a spot in the North Pacific today where 42 crew members jumped from a sinking freighter.

The U.S. Coast Guard said the crew of the Panosceanic Faith leaped into the water as the 459-foot vessel sank shortly before dark Monday about 80 miles southwest of Kodiak, Alaska.

One of five merchant vessels which sped to the rescue, the Japanese freighter Igaharu Maru, radioed "some bodies" had been picked up and "two men were reported to be alive."

The survivors were identified as Gordon Campbell and Lewis E. Gray. Addresses were unavailable.

In New York, the ship's owners reported the master of the vessel, Capt. John F. Ogles of Alexandria, Va., had also been picked up.

Military planes which flew to the scene just after radio calls for assistance were received from the stricken vessel dropped rubber life rafts to crew members bobbing in life jackets and the pilot of a navy plane reported he saw several men climb into them.

Bandits Get $20,000 From Hotel

TORONTO (CP)—Three armed and masked bandits escaped with $20,000 from a fifth-floor office of the downtown Westbury Hotel today.

Police said the men—one armed with a shotgun, the others carrying pistols—burst into the auditing office and ordered four employees to hand over the money.

A week ago two masked bandits smashed their way into the cash office at the T. Eaton Co. in the Yorkdale shopping plaza and escaped with $85,000. Police said there is a similarity between today's robbery and the Yorkdale holdup.

Crash Kills 23

SAIGON (Reuters)—A U.S. Air Force C-130 Hercules aircraft with 23 persons on board, missing since Sunday on a routine flight in South Vietnam, was found wrecked today on the side of a mountain, a U.S. spokesman said. There were no survivors.

crew was unable to launch its two lifeboats or two liferafts.

There was fear some who jumped from the vessel could not survive. Authorities said a person rarely lives longer than an hour in the cold water.

JACKIE GOT SAME TREATMENT

Wet Expo Crowd Boos Margaret, Snowdon

MONTREAL (CP)—Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon were booed and shouted at by an irate crowd of Expo 67 visitors Monday.

The incident flared at the pavilion of Czechoslovakia on Notre Dame Island, where hundreds of visitors who had stood in a miserable driving drizzle for up to three hours waiting to see the pavilion reacted to the news that it was being closed for the duration of her visit.

The royal couple swept into the pavilion in the centre of a tight ring of plainclothes RCMP men and gave no indication that they had heard the loud booing.

An attendant at the pavilion door said the showplace had been closed to the public 20 minutes before the royal arrival to ensure them an uncrowded tour.

Neither France nor Mexico, pavilions she had just finished touring, closed its doors to the public during the visit.

It was at least the third time personalities had been booed at the Czech pavilion for causing a temporary shutdown.

Last Friday evening Jacqueline Kennedy, widow of President Kennedy, was booed as she arrived after causing the lineup to wait for 1½ hours in biting cold.

Recently the Shah of Iran got the same treatment when his tour closed the pavilion.

Harshest comments on the Monday close-down came from the 50 or so persons at the head of the lineup who could see the reason for the delay.

"Why weren't we told?" screamed Mrs. S. T. Abbott who would only say she came from Louisiana. She had been waiting three hours to get in.

"It's an absolutely disgusting situation," said Simon Fraser, of Dundee, Scotland. "The least they could have said was that we would have to wait for another half-hour."

"We wouldn't mind so much if someone had warned us that she was coming," said Hulda Blaufut of Seattle, Wash. "I've only got two days at Expo and one has practically been spent here."

Added Mrs. Abbott "We've got nothing against the princess but we can't understand why we can't tour the pavilion during her unofficial visit."

Earlier, the royal couple were serenaded by the Mariachis, a guitar band at the Mexican pavilion, as they left their trackless trailer-train, La Balade, to enter the pavilion.

The band followed them around the pavilion, playing and singing.

At the French pavilion, Expo visitors passed through the royal party as they went around, looking at the exhibits.

Armin' an rearmin' all them Arabs is tough on th' Russian taxpayers.

Seems there was this horse with nothin' in its brain cavity. Sure it wuz a horse?

We'll feel better about this stuff when it's pourin' through th' new waterworks tunnel.

FIRST RACE—Concise Answer may have caught too much mud in his last; the street kick wasn't there. But with this style he's no cinch at the short price. Miss Mystic is a possibility from the pole. Dody Dear gets the hot boy and off some trys has a shot. Karcys Kid should be a lot fresher than these and could be a factor. If Lady of Kent draws in she may be the one they'll have to fear. She can come off the pace is shopping for brackets. Jokellina switches to Sam who gets a lot of run from them.

LADY OF KENT, Concise Answer, Jokellina.

SECOND RACE—If they were running on a fast strip Princess Maya would probably roll out in front and dare them to catch her. She still may but without a race over the track, no race in fact for a month and the outside, it's asking a lot. Mobil Maid can hum early and Some Stand, dropping 10 lbs., present first turn opposition for the Princess. Jayleen moves up in the mud and despite adding six lbs. warrants serious consideration. With all the consoling, she looks set up for Sly Alibi. He likes the off going and if Broomfield can find the holes that may be it. SLY ALIBI, Some Stand, Jayleen.

THIRD RACE—It will be interesting to see what the stable will do with Jayle. When they took her off the pace she showed a winning late run. Last time they elected to run with Parisienne Pixie and found it couldn't be done. If they take her back here and allow Coquahalla (who switches to Coppernoll) and Ann's Treasure (who drops two lbs.) to fight it out early, she could be the danger. Chase with his best could be a menace and Dark Susan has a shot at the weights from the pole. JAYLE, Ann's Treasure, Coquahalla.

FOURTH RACE—With two races over the track Sikanal Chief should be acclimatized and ready for his best. He seems capable of staying close to the leaders and coming on and the boy knows what it's all about. Cherie Q (who seems to go well from the inside), Trevars Torchy and Miss Electric are the early hotshots with Salemtown who goes well for the jock in the second flight. Seven L may be the one to fear. Frazier stays with Happy Doe who has been marauding without success. SIKANAL CHIEF, Seven L, Salemtown.

FIFTH RACE—Souzem is a trouble-maker. That is, he makes his own trouble. He gets too far out or runs into a switch or catches paths of mud. If Shields can avoid Souzem's customary pitfalls he's the one to beat. Ready Freddy and Daviana should lead them away; the former tends to head for the exits early, the latter tries hard. Rondocal is better than her last shows, switches to Andrews and merits a long look. Whip'n Binkers is hard to figure. Magle Shan wasn't disgraced and these aren't world-beaters. SOUZEM, Daviana, Rondocal.

SIXTH RACE—Hola Fire drew the ideal post for his runaway style, is sharp, and a true mud-jar. But whether he draws clear depends on how Myaso and Eastern Jewel leave the gate. If they all go for the lead something will give since all of them appear to be sprinters. Shodan could have a good shot under a well-timed ride. Pidge's Pride might be the solid one despite the post. He's come from out of the pack before and could well do it again. PIDGE'S PRIDE, Shodan, Hola Fire.

ON EXPO SITE

Drapeau Bids To Continue Montreal Fair

MONTREAL (CP)—A permanent exhibition called Man and His World may follow on the heels of Expo's demise, October 29.

BOURGAULT
... warns suburb

Mayor Jean Drapeau announced at a city hall press conference Monday that he has "high hopes" an agreement to this effect will be worked out in negotiations between Ottawa and Quebec before the end of the month.

The permanent exhibition, which would include the 40 pavilions so far donated to the City of Montreal, would be open six months of the year to an estimated 20,000,000 annual visitors, Mr. Drapeau said.

Under the rules of the International Bureau of Exhibitions, the Paris-based body under which official world's fairs are established, Expo must be terminated when its six-month term is up, and demolished after a specified time.

WON'T BURDEN HOST

Referring to the official regulations, Mr. Drapeau said that the demolition rule is widely misunderstood. Its purpose was to ensure that the host city was not made financially responsible for clearing the site, but it did not mean that buildings set up by participants and given to the city had to be destroyed.

The mayor expressed the hope that the federal government and the province would participate in the new public corporation which would have to be established to run Man and His World after the Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition had finished its work.

The federal government is responsible for 50 per cent of the capital expenditure on Expo 67. The provincial government provided 37½ per cent and the city of Montreal 12½ per cent.

Mr. Drapeau said there is no reason to expect that the corporation which now administers Expo will not bequeath its theme Man and His World to the new public corporation, along with other assets.

Some of the pavilions donated to the city will come complete with exhibits. Others would be partially filled, and still others completely empty.

ZOO IN THE DOME

Mr. Drapeau mentioned "fascinating presentations" already in mind to fill the empty buildings, among them a zoo and botanical gardens which would fill the United States geodesic dome.

Paul Dozois, Quebec finance minister and acting premier in the absence of Premier Daniel Johnson, said last week that the initiative in any decision about the future of the Expo site lay with the federal government but that any decision would have to have the approval and agreement of the government of Quebec and the City of Montreal.

Mr. Drapeau, at his press conference, seemed confident that his ideas on the future of the Expo site would be accepted by the federal and provincial governments.

He emphasized that his project for a continuing exhibition would maintain the same "spiritual level" of Expo and would pose no competition to existing Canadian annual fairs such as the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto and the Calgary Stampede.

Used Marijuana 18 Years, Principal Loses Her Job

By STEPHEN COOK

NICASIO, Calif. (AP)—Residents of this tiny village Monday night fired their veteran primary school teacher-principal because she had smoked marijuana for 18 years.

Mrs. Garnet E. Brennan, 58, had broken the law, they said. She said she would appeal. The three-man school board in this hamlet 35 miles north-west of San Francisco voted unanimously "to continue dismissal on the basis that California law requires that all students be taught the basic principles of good citizenship, and that primary among the attributes of good citizenship is respect for the law."

Sale or possession of marijuana is a felony in California.

YOUTH COUNCIL

Indians Define 'Red Power'

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP)—A resolution passed by the Canadian Indian Youth Council which seeks communication with Indians in other countries is evidence of the "red power" movement among members of the race, Maxine Thomas of Brentwood Bay, B.C., said Monday.

She said, in an interview at the end of the council's annual congress:

"When we have the backing of these people that is red power. We have to think of ourselves more as North Americans, not as Canadians or Americans or Mexicans."

Concepts of red power were expected to be widely discussed during the three-day council meeting but it was reviewed in closed sessions and a formal resolution dealing with it did not reach the convention floor.

One delegate said: "I think we are all generally agreed on the meaning of red power... and there is no need to define the CIYC position."

Most delegates indicated red power could be interpreted as a movement, particularly among young people, to organize themselves to an extent where government and society will listen to them.

They said, however, the concept among Canadian Indians is not militant in nature.

Duke Redbird of Toronto said red power could be termed as something relative to the aspirations of the Indian people.

Delegates attending the council meeting agreed to give priority to increase its membership and raise funds to strengthen its position as the voice of Indian youth.

The three-year-old organization has a $7,000 deficit which Miss Thomas said it hopes to wipe out in the next year. Several new sources of revenue will be explored.

Speaking at a press conference following Alberta Day celebrations at Expo 67, he said: "I am against special status for any province. I am also against the melting-pot concept. Each area has its differences, and these should be fostered and preserved."

"When one province says 'we want something beyond this' it tends to disunity."

While not completely in favor of the present Canadian constitution, he called the possibility of Canada adopting a new constitution in the foreseeable future "wishful thinking."

PC HEAD TACKLES FRENCH TONGUE

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Robert Stanfield, national Progressive Conservative leader, next week plunges into a "total immersion" course on speaking French.

He will go to Montreal and for seven days will speak not a single word of English. He will be "living" French.

The new Conservative leader, according to his staff, reads French "reasonably well." He can make his way without too much difficulty through a speech text or a book.

But like other English-speaking Canadians he encounters difficulty when attempting to speak the French language in conversation with French-speaking Canadians.

Mr. Stanfield will absent himself from his customary observation post in the galleries in Parliament next week.

Separatists Back School For French

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—Pierre Bourgaault, re-elected president of le Rassemblement pour l'indépendance nationale, issued a warning to the citizens of Pierrefonds, a Montreal suburb, Monday at the conclusion of the separatist party's annual meeting.

Mr. Bourgaault, speaking to about 1,000 delegates who attended the two-day meetings, said the RIN will organize an all-out demonstration in Pierrefonds if a referendum, scheduled to be held next Friday, interferes with the construction of a school for French-speaking students in an English-speaking section of the city.

He said the situation in Pierrefonds is "intolerable and scandalous."

The RIN has been involved in a dispute for more than a month over the construction of a French-language school in Pierrefonds—a predominantly English-language city.

"We have set up a truce to give the citizens a chance to react and we have decided that the whole party will engage in the battle if the problem is not solved following the referendum," Mr. Bourgaault said.

"If they're going to, once again, reduce French-Canadians to second-class citizens, in the two or three days following the referendum, we will all be in Pierrefonds."

CHEER DE GAULLE

Most of the members attending the two-day meeting boomed each other consistently throughout the weekend but went home laughing at French-Canadian MPs in Ottawa and cheering French President de Gaulle.

The separatists split with boos over the conference's central issue—proposed fusion with le Ralliement National, Quebec's No. 2 separatist party.

But they united to laugh at skits mocking federal politicians from Quebec and to cheer deliriously at a recording of Gen. de Gaulle's "vive le Quebec libre" speech.

Opponents of fusion, led by Mr. Andre Ferretti, considered the RIN to be a left-wing socialist party, saying that joining with the RN could only be done at the expense of the RIN's traditional philosophy.

U.K. Sees Future In European Link

LONDON (AP)—The man heading Britain's campaign to enter the European Common Market said his country no longer claims a special relationship with the United States.

Lord Chalfont, minister of state in charge of Common Market negotiations, told an interviewer Monday night:

"This is a change in the facts of life. We have to get the thing into perspective. The so-called special relationship with the United States has been for some time changing in character as we come to concentrate more on the affairs and future of Europe."

"I am not suggesting that there is any great break in our relations with the United States. We have a great deal in common with them."

But in the future, Lord Chalfont said, there will be less a special relationship between the U.S. and Britain and more of a relationship between the U.S. and Europe—"of which Britain is going to be a member sooner or later."

PERHAPS THE EXTREMITY OF concern for Canada's unity which had been reached in Ottawa may be measured in the expressions of relief which have followed the declaration of Quebec's Premier Johnson that he does not want to isolate his province from Canada behind a wall, and that although there is much to be done regarding a new constitution, separatism is not the road for Quebec. If this sentiment is indeed the thinking of official Quebec—and it is borne out in general by a recent survey of Quebec legislative assembly members, both government and opposition—then we may believe that the crisis of Confederation has been somewhat eased and the country may now be on the way to a constructive new look at the national situation.

Mr. Johnson's encouraging statement will not, of course, solve the problem overnight. There still remain many points of controversy, even granted that a constitutional change is all that is asked. And it should not be forgotten that the Quebec premier, like many other political figures engaged in the current discussions, has frequently spoken with different emphasis outside his province than to a home audience. In the latest instance, he was speaking in Hawaii, although for an exclusive interview to be published in Montreal.

Mr. Johnson calls for the people of Quebec to exercise the rights guaranteed them in the BNA Act in order to secure amendments to the Act which would extend guarantees of their language and equality to all parts of Canada. It may not prove so difficult as expected to get such rights acknowledged on paper. But there are many practical problems associated with the proposed extended use of French throughout the country—and these despite the greatest of good will on the part of non-French-speaking Canadians. These are matters which will have to be worked out in co-operation and understanding.

There is hope in the thought that Mr. Johnson's latest statement is the result of his assessment of Quebec feeling in general—that he sees public opinion there as rejecting outright separatism and reaffirming Confederation, although one in which some sweeping alterations must be made in regard to Quebec's relationship with the rest of the country. If this is so, it will be welcomed by the nation as a favorable foundation on which to determine, in the various conferences that are scheduled for the next few months, the best form of constitutional structure for the future.

Lord Clement Attlee

GREATER VICTORIANS WHO remember the visit of Lord Clement Attlee to make an address in the arena here a decade or more ago may also recall the quotation with which he closed his talk. The British Socialist leader described his mission in the words of William Blake, promising unremitting effort "till we have built Jerusalem in England's green and pleasant land."

That ambition was not achieved—it is ironic that Attlee's death at the age of 84 should have come at a time when Britain, under a Labor government, is experiencing internal troubles of a particularly critical nature—but he played a historic part in effecting vast changes in the England of his era. He did not found Jerusalem but he inaugurated the welfare state, nationalized industries, public health insurance and socialized medicine. While much of his achievement has been duplicated in countries which strongly reject socialism in politics, a good deal of it is still controversial, particularly his program of nationalized industry. Lord Attlee also played a leading role which Winston Churchill rejected for himself in "presiding over the dissolution of the British Empire." Thus both domestically and internationally—he was also a participant in the Big Three post-war conferences at Potsdam—Lord Attlee could claim prominent pages in the record of history.

Although his later years were passed in obscurity he must have derived considerable satisfaction from his career. He profoundly affected British history, and only history can be his final judge.

Writing on the Uvic Wall

ALTHOUGH THE IMMINENT shortage of classroom space on the University of Victoria campus has once more been put before the public in news headlines, it is never far from the minds of those charged with the operation of the institution.

The university has used up all the money available for construction. It has borrowed against the sum it will shortly receive in settlement of the McPherson estate. It has no further funds from which buildings can be paid for. There is nothing immediately in sight from the provincial government, which two months ago even made drastic cuts in the university's operating budget.

At the moment the buildings at Gordon Head, with the full use of frame shacks left over from the army camp, are adequate to handle the student enrolment of 4,000. But today's needs are not the worry of the university authorities; it is the predictable needs of next year and the following years that cause concern. With from 400 to 500 new students due to be added to the student body next year, and a similar number the following term, and so on for the foreseeable future, it is obvious that new classrooms will have to be added. New office accommodation for the increased faculty will be required, along with student residences and all the other space needs that go with a modern educational institution.

But how will they be built, without large private endowments or adequate government grants? The problem is one that should be under urgent government survey now, for within a very short time the situation will be acute, and after that the impediments of overcrowding will seriously hamper the operation of the university. Where do we go from here?

A Clear Limitation

THE ALARM EXPRESSED BY United States Senator Thurston B. Morton over reports that an American invasion of North Vietnam is being readied is probably too extreme. The senator said that he had heard from three separate Pentagon sources that such an invasion, above the demilitarized zone and similar to the Inchon landing of the Korean war, had been planned.

There is no doubt that plans for an operation of this kind have been drawn up; it is axiomatic in military strategy that all contingencies must be considered.

In the American entanglement in Vietnam, however, things are not that cut and dried. President Johnson has received a clear and direct warning from Soviet Premier Kossygin that an invasion of North Vietnam would bring a "military response" from Russia. And, of course there is the still-fresh memory of what the Inchon landing and expansion of the bridgehead to the north achieved—the intervention of China and a prolongation of the war.

The risk is so obvious, that such an action by the President is hardly credible.

"You're not really trying . . ."

FROM WASHINGTON

Vietnam Policy: A Crisis of Confidence

By RICHARD PURSER

THE roster of congressional dissent on Vietnam now is lengthening almost daily. Mike Mansfield, the Democratic party leader in the Senate, has called for President Johnson not only to end the bombing of North Vietnam, but to specify that it will be ended permanently.

In an addition to the list that created a sensation in Congress last week, Senator Stuart Symington (Democrat—Missouri) went so far as to announce a date on which it would halt all military action in the entire Vietnam war, and end reinforcements. This was startling news, because Sen. Symington, who has just returned from Vietnam as a former secretary of the air force, has previously been a devotee of air power.

Such an unilateral move, he said, would put the onus on North Vietnam and the Viet Cong to take reciprocal action. If they continued hostilities, the U.S. would be free to resume fighting and the world would know who was to blame. He spoke in the spirit of Denmark's new foreign minister, Hans Tabor, who said Sunday that the most powerful country in the world can afford to take the risk of making the first move to end the war.

The calls of Canada, Denmark and Sweden to end the bombing, which were surprisingly played down here, did not set off the new round of bitter debate in Congress. It was started by the mild-mannered but long-simmering Republican senator from New Jersey, Clifford Case, who belied over a vitriolic speech against President Johnson. His subject matter touched one of the rawest nerves in Congress—passage by both Houses, in August of 1964, of what is known as the Tonkin Gulf resolution.

Tonkin Gulf Precedent

This six-paragraph joint resolution was passed, at administration request, to provide backing for action President Johnson had just taken in retaliation against two unprovoked North Vietnamese attacks on American vessels on the high seas. In a wave of patriotism, the resolution passed with only two dissenting votes—those of Senators Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska, who alone were reading the writing on the wall.

Sen. Morse warned at the time that Congress would live to regret this action and it has. For President Johnson has used that resolution as the authority to pursue American involvement in the Vietnam war to an extent unimaginable by congressmen at the time and without any further approach to Congress. (There was then no talk of bombing North Vietnam, except by Sen. Barry Goldwater, and there were only 16,000 U.S. servicemen in the South, mostly in training and advisory capacities.)

A wary Mr. Goldwater, reflecting back on the man who attacked his policies before the 1964 election and then adopted them after victory, recently called Mr. Johnson the "outest, sharpest" political operator he had ever known. As far as the Tonkin Gulf resolution is concerned, something now very nearly approaching half of Congress would agree.

"Crafty President"

But Sen. Case attacked the dismissal of the president's behavior as a mere demonstration of political expertise. As he said in the stormy opening of his speech:

"For those observers of the passing scene to whom politics is little more than a cheap game in which one man or one group tries to advantage itself at the expense of another, the distress of Congress over the administration's continuing misuse of the Tonkin Gulf resolution means only that a crafty president had again put it over on the stupid members of Congress."

"How stupid you members are and were, they say, not to have known that Lyndon Johnson would extract the last ounce of advantage from the situation he so cleverly put you in."

But here is the senator's point: "What this glib view so conveniently ignores is that the American political system requires mutual confidence and trust between the President and Congress. . . .

"Yet, in sombre fact the Johnson administration's handling of the war in Vietnam since 1964 has produced a crisis of confidence. The people's anxiety and that of Congress, too, springs perhaps in greatest part from a growing conviction that the administration is not telling them the truth."

He cited the rosy claims of domestic progress in South Vietnam, Defence Secretary McNamara's differences with his generals and his apparent overruling by the president, and especially Mr. Johnson's interpretation of the Tonkin Gulf resolution's naked words as giving the president sanction to do almost anything in Southeast Asia. But here is where the matter of trust comes in:

"That, however, was not the nation's understanding of administration intentions in the summer of 1964. To the contrary, it was the understanding of Congress and of the public that it was our basic policy to 'assist' South Vietnam and that, as the president put it in September, he was not about to send American boys to fight a war that Asian boys should fight for themselves."

Congressmen were assured, Sen. Case said, that the resolution was not intended to grant the unlimited sanction that its words, stretched to their ultimate, could be taken to convey. The assurance was given by the foreign relations committee chairman, J. W. Fulbright, after his committee and the armed services committee had heard secret administration testimony. "Sen. Fulbright was then known to be a confidant of the president, and the authority of his words was unchallenged."

The president, in seeking the resolution, noted that hostile nations must not be allowed to interpret the forthcoming three months of political campaigning as indicating division in the country. "Those three months have stretched into three years," Sen. Case said. "Yet we still find the president relying upon the literal words of the Tonkin Gulf resolution to justify every action he has taken in Vietnam."

To the senator, Congress was not wrong in relying on mutual trust in passing the resolution; it is the president who was "highly irresponsible" in taking advantage of the restraint and responsibility of Congress by perverting the resolution, undermining and perhaps irreparably compromising the mutual trust and confidence required between the executive and legislative branches of government.

FROM CALGARY

The Chaos of Spending Others' Money

By JAMES H. GRAY

WHEN one government shovels out money for another government to spend things can get pretty chaotic, as they are in Alberta at the moment. And they are about to get more so, as a result of a recent boost in municipal subsidies for road construction by the Manning Government.

In order to encourage cities to build bigger and better freeways, the government some years ago agreed to pay half the cost of all roads built to freeway standards. It also embarked on a freeway construction program of its own in and around the Calgary and Edmonton areas.

The other day it announced it was boosting the contribution to 75 per cent of the cost and reducing the specifications. Now roads built as first steps in future freeway developments will be eligible for the higher grants.

Before the announcement was made, Edmonton had projects worth $22 million in government grants scheduled for spending in the next five years. Its commissioner immediately announced that the schedule would be completely revised to take full advantage of the more generous provincial subsidy. Thus important projects that did not qualify will be down-graded in favor of getting on with projects that do.

In addition, the city can look around for other projects on which it can embark in order to spend the available provincial money.

The kind of confusion that is created by one government spending money provided by another government has scores of examples. In Calgary, a start was made on the planning of an essential bridge at least 10 years ago. Early estimates were below the $4 million level, but even that was too rich for the city's budget. So the project never got off the ground.

Then came the provincial cost-sharing deal. The project was rushed to the top of the list and work was started before the plans were complete. Instead of a simple bridge, it ballooned into a freeway plus a railway overpass plus interchanges all over the place. The cost has gone well beyond $17 million and the planners are still breathlessly trying to catch up.

In the course of a decade, houses have been built, commercial buildings have gone up, fancy lights and sidewalks have gone in in the area of the new bridge. This year more than a dozen new houses were torn down, sidewalks and recent paving were torn up.

And all this in only the beginning. The planners are now projecting a thoroughway from the bridge eastward across the downtown area. It will cost even more when completed years from now. Meanwhile, downtown Calgary is being choked to death by lack of north-south access. Still more new office buildings are being approved for the downtown core, more housing projects are being approved north and south. More north-south traffic congestion is being planned while new east-west freeways are being built!

Similar situations develop in connection with urban renewal. Because it was spending 75 cents in federal and provincial subsidies for each 25 cents of its own, Calgary rushed into a huge urban renewal scheme two years ago, in an area that was far from derelict.

Urban Renewal

It tore down old stores and houses and evicted scores of families. This added to the already wretchedly congested low rental housing situation. Then it tried to get government approval to tear down another area to make room for a new race track for the Calgary Stampede. At this point Edmonton called: Hold, enough is enough!

The problem is not confined to Alberta, however. Something similar happened in Saskatchewan in connection with the Centennial auditoriums which Saskatoon and Regina embarked on. Ottawa agreed to put up $5 million for the projects, and with Saskatchewan matching the gift both cities fully expected they would be able to build their projects at reasonable cost to themselves.

But the province diverted a chunk of both federal and provincial money to Moose Jaw and to other centres. The two larger cities saw their subsidies shrinking while their construction costs were escalating. The Regina ratepayers refused to sanction their auditorium after the steel was up. Saskatoon proceeded with its project with dwindling enthusiasm. Without the prospect of spending government money, neither Regina nor Saskatoon would have gone ahead with an auditorium in the first place.

On a much smaller scale, there is the ARDA boondoggle in which smaller communities are trying to find some way of latching onto the federal government's Agricultural and Rural Development Administration funds.

Tasteless

New York Times

Grand Central Terminal, recently declared a landmark, is one of the few remaining examples in New York of the noble use of stone and space for a substantial magnificence that our own day can neither match nor replace. It is more than a landmark; it is a declaration of the diminishing values of urban quality and architectural excellence.

The New York Central now proposes to erect a tower over the Terminal waiting room, just in front of the main concourse. While the New York Central cannot, under the landmarks law, treat the Terminal as disposable, it is obviously looking for another revenue-producing Pan Am building or a reasonable facsimile. Park Avenue, and New York, are still traumatized by that one. What the Central is suggesting is a kind of architectural shotgun marriage in which the Terminal's Beaux Arts bottom would be the base for a 40-story commercial building on top.

Grand Central Terminal is a free-standing piece of superb classic eclectic sculpture; the facade would become a false face over which any superstructure would be ludicrous. It would not be a "backdrop," as suggested, but a kind of supercilious, unfunny hat. Certainly the spirit, if not the letter, of the landmarks law would be violated. . . .

Given this triumph of tastelessness, emphasized by that other Central-sponsored landmark, the Pan Am Building, the results of the new project would be, in urban and esthetic terms, a disaster for New York.

Unsafe

The Gazette, Montreal

A South Shore motorist, 31 years old, has been sentenced to two years in penitentiary and forbidden to drive an automobile in Canada for the next 15 years.

The licence suspension is the longest ever imposed in this area. But when it is remembered that the last time this driver was in charge of a car he killed a woman of 28 who was the mother of four children, and seriously injured a man of 24, it does not seem severe.

What does strike the reader of the record is that this man has been a road menace for years. Five times since 1960 he has been convicted of similar offences of hit-and-run and of driving "while impaired." The most he has suffered was a $100 fine imposed in a hit-and-run case.

There is a persistent, and mistaken belief that anyone who can afford a car and pass a routine examination has the right to operate it. The routine examinations, unfortunately, do not check the personality of the applicant driver.

Many people, particularly those of violent or unstable character, should never be given a driver's licence. In their hands, today's high-powered vehicles become lethal instruments.

DENNIS THE MENACE

Looking Back

From the Times, Oct. 10, 1967.

When within a hundred feet of the naval wharf at Esquimalt, HMS Shearwater, returning from a three-months patrol of the Behring Sea grounded on the ledge of a rock at the entrance of the harbor off Bleford Tower today.

The war vessel was hugging the point very closely coming in and there was scarcely 10 feet of water between her starboard side and the shore. A rock caught her amidships and held her fast for two hours.

The Great Money Crisis

Sharp Stays Calm In Midst of Storm

By PETER C. NEWMAN

Second of Two Articles

OTTAWA—The man whose painful duty it has become to resolve the great money crisis currently threatening the Canadian economy is Mitchell William Sharp, the Pearson government's minister of finance and receiver-general.

Sharp is well aware that this is his greatest challenge since he entered politics half a decade ago, that not only his reputation as manager of the country's finances, but his chances of succeeding Lester Pearson as prime minister of Canada hang on the way he handles himself in the next few weeks.

When I called on him at his parliamentary office, I found the finance minister somewhat subdued and well aware of the seriousness of the situation, but by no means gloomy or despairing. It is difficult to come away from an interview with this supremely rational, always guarded politician without feeling the assurance that as long as Mitchell Sharp is in charge, Canada's federal finances will never be out of control.

This is the transcript of our interview:

Newman: Looking back over the past year, do you see anything the government might have done to avoid the present crisis?

Sharp: No, I don't think so. It would have been contrary to good public policy to have dampened down business expansion in the circumstances of the beginning of 1967. I believe it was quite proper for the government to have provided some mild stimulus.

Living with continuous prosperity is a new kind of problem facing the whole of the world. Our main concern up to now has been to maintain full employment of our resources, to try to level out the fluctuations in economic activity. But we've had a period of six years of almost continuous expansion and we have yet to learn how to manage our prosperity without inflation.

Newman: What about the past legislative record of the Pearson government? Do you now feel that your order of priorities was correct?

Sharp: I'm inclined to think that our priorities were reasonably good with one important exception, and that is in the field of the training and mobility of labor. Education must be our top priority. Certainly it's mine. This year we made substantial increases to help the provinces meet the cost of higher education. This not only provided more resources to them immediately, but it gave them some guarantee that we would continue to share those expenses in the future.

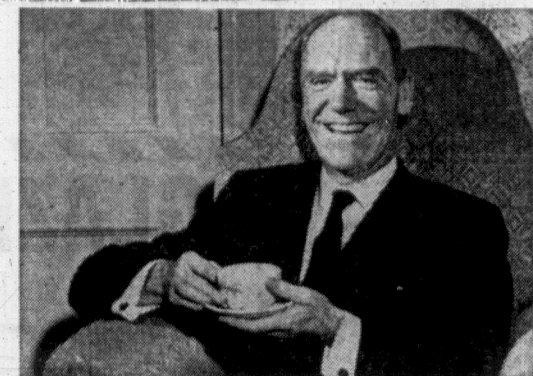

We should probably have moved sooner into the field of training and mobility. This is one of the sources of the problems we face now. We have to continue to give very high priority to that, even though its effects are very long term.

Newman: Do you regard the government's medicare commitment as unbreakable; is this subject to priority rearrangement?

Sharp: I look on medicare as having been approved by Parliament to become effective on July 1, 1968, for the provinces that wish to proceed at that time. I was the minister who took the responsibility for postponing medicare for a year, and in retrospect I think that was a wise decision. At the time I said that medicare would become effective on July 1, 1968, and I look on that as a deliberate decision of Parliament made on the recommendation of the government.

What the provinces wish to do is their decision and we'll stand ready to meet our commitment.

Newman: The most important problem right now is to provide the business community with some psychological assurance that government expenditures are to be brought under control, how do you plan to go about it?

FINANCE MINISTER MITCHELL SHARP

ity with some psychological assurance that government expenditures are to be brought under control, how do you plan to go about it?

Sharp: Yes, I think the main problem we face is to reassure the public, and particularly those who are investing money, that the federal government is in control of its own spending and lending activities and that it's able to limit its demands on the capital market.

I'm satisfied that we will be able to live within the budgetary deficit that I forecast. The cash requirements of the government will be kept within the limits that I set down of approximately $1.5 billions.

In 1968-69 our aim is to reduce our total demands on the money market. This we will have to do by reducing the budget deficit and by limiting the amount that we're borrowing.

Newman: But how much discretionary power does the minister of finance retain in trimming federal spending?

Sharp: This has been the most serious re-examination of government financial operations ever undertaken. We've had to look not only at our spending but also at our borrowing and lending operations. Up until now we've assumed that these operations, in which the government borrows money from the public and re-lends it, were perfectly sound and safe investments, as they are. Now, for the first time, we're looking at these transactions to see if it might be better for the economy if they were financed outside government.

Newman: Is that why you raised the NHA rate?

Sharp: Yes. In recent years CMHC has greatly increased its direct lending activities. This has required the government to raise more money and this puts upward pressure on interest rates. The rate that the federal government pays for money has a much more pervasive effect on the economy than the operations of private lending institutions. We came to the conclusion that the overall structure of interest rates could be better kept down if the financing of house building could be transferred back to private lenders, leaving the government with the responsibility of raising money for public housing operations, for student housing, for sewerage loans—in effect for the people who need it most.

Newman: This is no doubt sound in fiscal terms but is it sound in terms of the government's social responsibility?

Sharp: It's a matter of priorities and this is a place where we exercised our priority. We decided that there was greater priority attached to the provision of low-cost housing than to the provision of housing for those who are building homes privately, either rent or for their own occupancy.

Newman: Everybody complains about Ottawa, but what about the burden on the money market of municipal and provincial borrowing and what can you do about that?

Sharp: The big change that took place in the money market this year was the increase in federal government borrowing. But even today the federal government doesn't place as great a demand upon the market as the provinces and the municipalities. The federal government, however, has an overall responsibility, in terms of leadership. That's why we shall have to limit our demands on the market. We must not be responsible for driving up the general structure of interest rates.

Newman: Is there any chance of using the Australian idea of establishing a fiscal commission to co-ordinate all borrowing?

Sharp: I believe that it's possible to have more co-ordination than we have now. The biggest decision that we made last year during the federal-provincial conferences was to establish the principle that governments must be responsible to their own taxpayers, for their own financial affairs and for their own budgetary policies.

No provincial or municipal government can now make expenditures in the expectation that the federal government will bow out of a tax field in their favor. They must account to their own taxpayers. That includes an accounting for the interest they have to pay on borrowed money.

That, I believe, is the democratic way. You can't have the necessary discipline unless each government is on its own, except to the extent, of course, that the federal government must help the less favored provinces.

Newman: Would you agree with the statement that monetary policy in Canada has now gone as far as it can go?

Sharp: Monetary policy has been easy. There has been no tight money policy this year, indeed quite the contrary. So that the rise in interest rates has not been related to a shortage of supply. To try to solve the problem by increasing the money supply would probably only feed the fires of inflation.

Newman: Do you really believe that public opinion about the economic dangers that exist in this country has been sufficiently mobilized for you to be able to make significant cutbacks in some of the traditional federal spending programs?

Sharp: Our basic problem is to keep the increase in our expenditures within the increase in our revenues. We must be prepared to take tough decisions about which expenditures have priority.

As well, we have to begin to screen out obsolete programs that no longer serve the purpose they were set up for. The money saved can surely be spent much more productively. It's a problem that also faces the provincial and municipal governments.

All of this is going to have a profound effect on all governments in this country.

More Bombs on North Vietnam Are Not Going to Win the War

By McGEORGE BUNDY

(Now president of the Ford Foundation, Mr. Bundy served both Presidents Kennedy and Johnson as special assistant for national security affairs and was intimately connected with formulation of policy. This article is a critique of the recent report of the United States Senate preparedness sub-committee recommending basically that the air war against North Vietnam be increased. The sub-committee supported the position taken by the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff which was antithetical to testimony given by Secretary of Defence McNamara.)

under the influence or direction of unskilled amateurs." In another place the sub-committee recognizes the right of the commander-in-chief to set "broad policies and objectives," but it does not seem to understand that the real issues between military men and their civilian supervisors develop just where there is a conflict between the tactical or strategic desires of the military and the broad policies of the commander-in-chief.

Given his well-known views on the war in general and the bombing in particular, the secretary general's obviously sincere belief in the value of a new pause is no more convincing — in the absence of supporting evidence — than military belief in intensified bombing.

Second, in reaching its conclusions and recommendations, the sub-committee report pushes aside all political and diplomatic considerations — and all risks of wider conflict. The sub-committee tells us simply to "take the risks that have to be taken and apply the force that is required."

Neglects Policy

It thus neglects to examine what its own report calls the "serious and legitimate question" of policy "over and above purely military considerations."

The sub-committee heard no intelligence expert on the dangers of such an action as closing the port of Haiphong. It heard no political expert on the international costs of "striking all meaningful targets with a military significance" (a definition so broad as to permit virtually unlimited target choice). It attempted no trial balance between the military advantages it claims for this course and the risks whose existence it admits but does not examine.

The sub-committee might well reply that other committees of the Senate are responsible for questions of intelligence and of foreign policy, but then it would have to tell us why it has chosen to move from its assigned field of preparedness into these very large questions of national policy.

Third, while the sub-committee gives lip service to the principle of civilian control, its main line of argument tends to deny that principle. The sub-committee is quite right in its assertion that the military leaders of this war have been generally scrupulous in their respect for civilian control, but its own report is not so careful. It tells us that it is wrong for "strategy or tactics to come how much? And how lasting? And at what overall cost?

In our system of government there is only one place where these questions can be resolved: this is precisely why our commander-in-chief is the president. The president cannot delegate this responsibility, and I am sure the sub-committee does not want him to. But civilian control means civilian control, and in a complex contest the exercise of that control will inevitably place limits upon both strategy and tactics.

Fourth, the sub-committee report moves onto dangerous ground when it suggests that the course chosen by the administration has increased the cost of the war in American lives. The sub-committee knows that the president yields to no one in the depth of his feeling for those whose lives are at risk in Vietnam. If he knew a cheaper way of doing this hard job, he would surely choose it.

Is it really wrong to insist on directions of flight that minimize the danger of intrusion into Red China? Is it an error to insist on standards of accuracy and identification much tighter than those which "purely military considerations" have imposed in other wars?

But it is a part of the necessary price of this war — as of all wars — that there is unequal sacrifice for the wider safety of all. To take an extreme example, the president could save American lives — at least in the short run and in the immediate theatre — if he were to authorize the use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam. Obviously he will do nothing of the sort, and everyone knows it.

Similarly — and the case is not extreme at all — General Westmoreland could probably limit his immediate casualties at least a little if he did not insist on standards of discipline in fire control and target identification, which are unique in American warring.

But the president and General Westmoreland cannot serve the wider interest which is the true justification for the sacrifices asked of our forces if they do not insist on such restraint. No one on any side of these arguments can want larger human losses to Americans, to allied forces, to civilians, or indeed to the enemy. So none of us should yield to the temptation to wave the bloody shirt of other men's sacrifices.

My own summary belief is that both the advocates and the opponents of the bombing continue to exaggerate its importance. I think it has had the real but limited value that Secretary McNamara described in his statement to the sub-committee, but I know of no solid evidence for believing with the sub-committee that its expansion offers our best hope of success, or with others that its indefinite and unconditional suspension will produce serious negotiations.

To me it is the struggle in which for the South that will be decisive — bombing or no bombing, pause or no pause.

McGEORGE BUNDY

... looks to South

When we move to larger issues, the case of civilian control is stronger still. These issues require a careful judgment between military value and political cost (I use the word political to include the whole range of non-military considerations ranging from simple humanity to complex intercontinental diplomacy).

In such a calculation there is no escape from the necessity to ask hard questions — to test the evidence and not simply to bow to professional authority. Presumably nearly all well-executed military measures have some military effect, but bombing, pause or no pause.

The Reality of Power Or Just the Symbols?

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

(Mr. Crowe is associate professor of history at Atkinson College, York University. Mr. Fisher, a former NDP MP, lectures in Canadian government at Carleton University.)

Robert Stanfield's recent remarks to the young Tories of Manitoba supports the Lamontagne thesis we presented last week. The new leader expressed the party's intention "to rely very much upon the various committees of the caucus," "to make extensive use of assistance and advice from outside Parliament in order that we may be able consistently to offer an informed and effective alternative to the government." "... Canadians can know where we stand and what it is we propose to do."

Senator Lamontagne contends that the federal civil service is in the twilight of its monopoly of influence, that more and more it had to share this influence with "the public, the intellectual community, the private member of Parliament and the press."

Mr. Stanfield touched on three of these four. He didn't mention the press directly but it is obvious that the media will be the brokers between the public and the party in this Tory process of presenting an alternative government.

A general recognition that the official Ottawa establishment is losing dominance is important. It should kill the Tory obsession against the civil service built up between '58 and '63, because they believed that they were dived by a hostile, pro-Liberal, senior service. And it should be the death blow to an old Conservative belief that a coherent and constantly-adjusting policy is unnecessary.

While we warm too much to Senator Lamontagne's thesis there are extensions and disagreements to be registered. He makes no mention of the build-up in the Privy Council office and the associated office of the prime minister. This has accelerated since Mr. Pearson took over. There has been an unnoticed but definite transfer of power from deputy-ministers of departments and from the cabinet as a whole to the gathering host around the PM.

Further, there's been a marked weakening of ministers as regional strongmen. Now, they are not so capable of drawing to them the backbenchers of their area. And with caucus and its committees and parliamentary work itself more vital, the potential of power (as the giver and taker-away) of the prime minister is even greater.

In addition, it is increasingly important that the prime minister play the game with the press (which Lamontagne regrets) and in doing this he has immense resources, both in talent and as a newsmaker. So we agree that power is more diffused, away from the establishment we knew. But some of it has gone to the prime minister. Of course, he must play the game of intimacy and quick response to the public. To do otherwise, as Senator Lamontagne said, is to lose reputation and, so, influence. In this sense, the PM is like other ministers.

One can easily see in the Lamontagne theme the bitter experience he himself had as cabinet minister. The furniture scandals and its bad publicity, some awkward and inept moments in the House, and then the cry was on against him. "He must go," "What a liability."

After months of this kind of publicity and a noticeable coolness toward him by his cabinet colleagues, Mr. Pearson took his resignation. So passed the most brilliant of its "idea men" from the cabinet. The fact that he had been Mr. Pearson's policy amanuensis for years didn't save him.

Proof that the Lamontagne brain is still positive and seminal came in another recent speech, the one given to the Liberal Montmorency conference. He suggested a new provisional structure for cabinet and government organization. Essentially, it would concentrate the innovating and planning functions of government in a few, brand-new ministries.

These would be strong in expert personnel but without the so-called "line" departmental structure. Many of the traditional departments would no longer be led by ministers entitled to sit in the cabinet.

This suggested reform of structure emphasized another Lamontagne theme with which we agree. It is that merely administrative operations are no longer important for cabinet ministers. The senator believes this so strongly that he's quite prepared to see a lot of "going" programs transferred to the provinces (e.g., old-age pensions).

What is crucial is that the federal government keep the initiative for innovating new programs and for planning the economy and the nature and quality of the country's culture.

Such advanced and radical thinking is a pleasant change from most politicians. We forgive easily the cynicism the senator showed in his conclusions about the twilight of the civil service. He asked who would want to be a minister under the dismal, precarious, publicity-mad conditions of today and answered: "We do not need to worry; to many people and to a great many politicians, the symbols of power are more attractive than the reality of power."

Three discussions on diabetes will take place Saturday morning, while organ transplantation will be a topic that afternoon.

NORTHWIND OUT

Icebreakers Rescue Caught U.S. Vessel

SEATTLE (AP) — With the help of two rescue ships, the U.S. coast guard icebreaker Northwind was reported to have fought its way out of the treacherous Arctic icepack Sunday night and proceeded under her own power to Barrow, Alaska.

Coast guard headquarters said the Northwind messaged she no longer needed the aid of a sister ship. The Staten Island, and a Canadian icebreaker, the John A. Macdonald.

The Seattle-based icebreaker damaged one of its two propellers and became stuck in the thickening icepack near the north pole, almost 500 miles northwest of Barrow, Sept. 23.

TURN BACK
The trouble occurred shortly after the Northwind was forced to turn back while on a routine supply mission to a group of scientists on an ice island near the pole.

The Macdonald, operating in the Arctic Ocean off the Mackenzie River, and the Staten Island reached the Northwind last week and broke a path through the heavy ice to free the stricken vessel.

The coast guard said the Northwind and its 198 men were never in danger, but that she could not have escaped from the frozen area without the aid of the Macdonald and Staten Island.

Canoe-Kayak Club
Planned for Victoria
A canoe-kayak club will be formed in Victoria this week.

A meeting to organize a club will be held at Servetus Hall, 106 Superior, Thursday, at 8 p.m.

Organizer Anthony J. Wilkins said 23 people, mostly canoeists, have indicated they will attend the meeting.

Interests in forming a club grew after centennial canoe and kayak races were held on the Gorge in September. A total of 44 boats took part in the events.

Mr. Wilkins said the proposed club's main objectives would be to hold canoe races on the Gorge every year, to plan and organize canoe trips and to co-operate with similar organizations in promoting the sport.

Pay Attention, Students Tell B.C. Politicians

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's students of voting age have threatened to use their ballot as a club against politicians who don't give top priority to education.

The B.C. Assembly of Students, which represents 160,000 students, 50,000 of voting age, made the threat at their annual meeting held during the week-end.

The assembly represents students at universities, high schools, regional colleges, nursing schools and technical institutions.

A document outlining priorities in education they want will be prepared for presentation in January, the 82 delegates decided.

Delegates condemned the present system of censoring high school newspapers. They also urged a 40-hour work week for nurses throughout the province, and better school and university counselling services.

An association resolution advocated a master plan for development of regional colleges throughout B.C. rather than the present system of what it called "stop-gap" measures.

Overcrowding of school rooms was criticized and the BCAS urged the provincial government to release capital for expansion of school facilities.

Rhys Phillips, 20, was elected new president of the assembly.

Victorian Heads
RCAF Group
Alex Jardine, 3478 Salsbury Way, was elected president of the RCAF Association at the conclusion of a national convention in Montreal Saturday.

Earlier this year he was appointed honorary aide de camp to Governor-General Roland Michener.

Mr. Jardine is a retired RCAF group captain.

The meeting also awarded the efficiency award to the RCAF B.C. group headed by Frank Porter of Victoria.

VISITING United States Pavilion at Expo Monday afternoon was Linda Bird Johnson at the start of a three-day private visit to Canada.

$1,000 Damage When Truck Rams House

Damage estimated at $1,000 was done when a truck rammed the front of a Saanich home about 11:15 Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hornick were seated in front of their television set in their living room at 2969 Earl Grey when they heard and felt the crash.

The outer wall of their bedroom was pushed in, the window shattered and the window box on the outside.

Later Saanich police arrested and charged Edward Hawes, 3533 Saanich Road, with impaired driving. He pleaded guilty in central court Saturday morning.

He was fined $300 and had his licence suspended for four months.

Citizens Unite to Aid Hurt Child

POWELL RIVER (CP) — Dozens of police officers, British Columbia and private citizens combined efforts Monday night to create a transportation chain to help save the eyesight of 4½-year-old Christine Prosperi-Porta, who was hit in the eye by a screw-driver.

Flying conditions made it impossible for an emergency flight from this coastal logging community to Vancouver, 60 air miles to the south, where an eye specialist was waiting to treat her.

An RCMP car took her to Satterly Bay, 19 miles down the coast, where a ferry was kept waiting to take her on a 1½-hour journey to Earl's Cove.

A waiting police car transported the child 53 miles to Gibson's Landing where another ferry was held. It carried her on the 1½-hour trip to Horseshoe Bay in West Vancouver and another RCMP cruiser.

She was taken to Burnaby General Hospital where the specialist was standing-by. Her condition and details of how she was injured were not immediately known.

Ministers Resign

TO MEET CRISIS

Subsidized Sale Of Homes Urged

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian politicians should take a fresh look at the national housing problem and give consideration to adding a new system of providing houses, Canada's realtors were told Monday.

Philip H. White, dean of commerce at the University of British Columbia, told 1,300 delegates attending the annual convention of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards that governments should consider buying existing units in the private sector of the market for resale to those who cannot afford market prices.

He said public housing projects have advantages. For politicians who like to have their pictures taken in front of the new development. For planners, architects and social workers. And those professionally interested in such projects.

Also disadvantages. Tenants are segregated from the rest of the community.

Segregation creates social problems. Cost is high, mainly because of difficulty in establishing cost control and competitive bidding among government agencies.

Dean White said there are many reports heard about a housing problem, but there are no data which would throw light on the statement that there are not enough houses to rent.

He said renting houses would not be an attractive investment for government, but "purchasing" existing housing, available at a price lower than the new housing market, would have many benefits.

Hundreds of new units of public housing would be brought into existence more quickly than in any other way, he said, and at the same time stimulate building in the private sector.

He said it would "ensure that taxpayers are treated more equitably in public housing policy."

Gordon T. McAtthey of Montreal, in his presidential address, questioned the value of replacing slums with public housing units that make the occupants charity cases.

MONTREAL (CP)—Introduction of uniform building rules and accepted national standards would help to speed the adoption of industrial building techniques in Canada, Industry Minister C. M. Drury said Monday.

"There still exists a multiplicity of conflicting and unco-ordinated codes which are often obsolete and sometimes totally inadequate to cope with today's modern technology," he said.

Quebec Sees Opportunity At Project

By DON McLEOD

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The second battle of Labrador's Churchill Falls has begun, with Newfoundland waging a holding action against Quebec labor while trying to muster manpower at home.

The prize this time is really the spoils of the last campaign—an expected 7,000 new construction jobs in Labrador by 1969, resulting from Quebec's market-guarantee last year which enabled a start on the six-year $7,000,000 power project.

Now that the decision has been made to harness the 6,000,000-horsepower potential of the Upper Churchill—after 10 years of interprovincial wrangling over everything from per-mile price to the Labrador boundary—the question is who will get the construction jobs.

Wages to the work force are expected to average $50,000-60,000 annually, roughly equal to the yearly armed services payroll of the Halifax-Dartmouth defence establishments.

Newfoundland has priority on all construction jobs under its statute which incorporated the developing company, The British Newfoundland Corp. (Brinco). This right was acknowledged in Hydro-Quebec's letter of intent to purchase 90 per cent of the first 40 years' production.

The latter document specifies, however, that Quebec has second choice whenever Newfoundlanders, for any reason, fail to exercise their first option.

Premier Joseph Smallwood, who vowed a few weeks after the signing Oct. 6, 1965, to "fight—if ever men fought"—to secure at least 90 per cent of the jobs for Newfoundlanders, now says he does not "know the details" of how the plan is working.

While the premier is reluctant to speak, conflicting opinions are heard on Newfoundland's ability to meet the projected labor demands of building the world's biggest power plant.

Harry Zuzak helped plan and build certain aspects of Echo Valley Provincial Park in Saskatchewan. Here he discusses park planning and life insurance.

Park planner says London Life policy a logical choice

(Is it because he will double his money?)

HARRY ZUZAK is a civil engineer and an Associate of H. C. W. Pool Consulting Engineers in Regina. Harry specializes in the planning of parks:

"As the work week gets shorter, people have more time on their hands. If they spend that time out-of-doors, it's better for their health, relaxation and general well-being.

"Of course, for a park to be successful it has to be planned methodically. Financial, economic, sociological and geographic factors have to be taken into consideration. For instance, there's no point building a park if people can't get to it easily.

"I knew very little about life insurance until Art (his London Life representative) sat down and explained how it works. He went over all the details from A to Z in a factual manner. I appreciated this because as an engineer you're taught to think logically, and Art made a presentation that made good sense.

"Well, I'd looked at several other life insurance proposals but London Life seemed to be the best to me. So, in 1962 (at age 24) I took out a $10,000 Jubilee policy with $20,000 supplementary term insurance. Then in 1963 I changed half of that term to another Jubilee. I'll probably change the other half in the next year or two."

Here are the facts about Harry's London Life policies. He has a $10,000 Jubilee life premiums to 65 policy, and a $10,000 Jubilee whole life policy. By age 65 he will have paid $13,113. But, if he leaves his dividends to accumulate, his policies will be worth $31,020*. More than double the money he paid in. No wonder he considers them a good investment!

"My London Life plan gives my family financial protection and it pays good dividends. And that's an important aspect of an insurance policy. I like to know that my money is working for me.

"Another thing I appreciate is that Art never hesitates to call me if he thinks any changes are required in my insurance program. And he keeps me up to date on dividends which increase the value of my policies."

To find out how you can double your money with London Life, talk to a Company representative. And send for your free copy of the handbook "Plain talk about life insurance". Write to Department R, London Life Insurance Company, London, Ontario.

* This figure is made up of $12,260 in guaranteed cash value and the balance in accumulated dividends based on the current scale. While dividends are not guaranteed, London Life for years has had one of the most outstanding records of dividend payments in North America.

SPORTS SHORTS

Atlanta Ogling Hockey

(Times News Services)

In two years Atlanta has become a major sports city with the coming of major league baseball, professional football and professional soccer. Now, the city is casting covetous eyes on a franchise in the National Hockey League.

Atlanta Braves announced Monday they hope to acquire a franchise in Atlanta when the NHL expands.

Braves' president William C. Bartholomay said the club has purchased a minority interest in Pittsburgh Penguins of the NHL "for the purpose of assuring Atlanta a place in the league when it expands again."

Bartholomay said there are no plans to move the Penguins to Atlanta but hopes that the interest in the Pittsburgh team gives the Braves a foot in the door for future NHL expansion. Bartholomay said all Atlanta needs is a facility for hockey and that the new $18,000,000 stadium would be perfect if it were domed.

Elsewhere and otherwise in the world of sports...

IN BASEBALL. New York Mets have received permission from the Washington Senators to talk with Gil Hodges about managing the Mets but, as yet, hadn't spoken with him or made an appointment to speak with him. Earlier, Hodges was reported to have been weighing an offer to succeed Wes Westrum as the Mets' manager, but the Mets denied that they have talked with him. Westrum resigned shortly before the season ended. Atlanta Braves' catcher Joe Torre has undergone surgery for an injury to his right ankle and will wear a cast for about six weeks.

At the same time, the Braves traded pitcher Denny Lemaster and shortstop Denis Menke to Houston Astros for first baseman Chuck Harrison and shortstop Tommy Jackson. The trade was the first since the end of the regular season. It also was the first under the reign of Luman Harris, named Atlanta manager Friday. Lemaster and Menke are a pair of $100,000 bonus babies.

IN CAR RACING. Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., grabbed the lead at the first lap and was never threatened in winning the finale of the 1967 Trans-American sedan racing series at Kent, Wash. Belgium's Jacky Ickx won the Rome Formula 2 Grand Prix Sunday after finishing first in two 57.5-mile heats. John Pierre Beltoise and Jean Servoz Gavin, both of France, were second and third.

IN BOXING. Oscar Bonavena has recovered from a back injury and been declared ready by doctors to meet Jimmy Ellis Nov. 11 in a semi-final bout of the elimination heavyweight tournament. Australian welterweight champion Carmen Rotolo was knocked out in the sixth round by Fate Davis of Columbus, Ohio. John Pritchett of England stopped Milo Calhoun of Jamaica in eight rounds and added the British Empire middleweight title to his British middleweight crown.

AND FINALLY. Basketball superstar Wilt Chamberlain ended his holdout by signing with Philadelphia 76ers for a sum that may gross upwards of $250,000.

Saskatchewan briefly shared its Western conference lead with Calgary Stampede then Sunday slipped by Hamilton Tiger-Cats 22-21 before 21,405 fans at Regina. Roughriders now have 20 points—two ahead of Calgary.

Ottawa Rough Riders moved into a first-place tie in the Eastern conference, propelled by Hamilton's loss and a 40-6 trouncing handed out Monday to Montreal Alouettes before 21,078 fans in Ottawa.

The weekend shuffle also solidified Toronto's third-place standing and settled Montreal in the cellar with four.

In the West, Edmonton Eskimos trailed well back of the leaders after the weekend with 11 points. Winnipeg Blue Bombers, smarting from Sunday's 53-0 thrashing by Toronto Argonauts in another interlocking CFL game, held fourth with eight points. British Columbia Lions languished in fifth place with five points.

SAVED BY SAFETY

In Monday's game at Regina, the defending Grey Cup champions could credit their narrow victory to two key interceptions by safety Bruce Bennett late in the game that nullified Hamilton scoring marches.

Stampede had grabbed a share of the Western leadership Saturday in a 34-10 romp over Hamilton in a game at Calgary. Hamilton's double loss to Western clubs during the weekend cost them the Eastern lead. Edmonton's strong hold on third place was fortified Sunday with a 19-3 sweep over British Columbia in Vancouver.

Bobby Taylor led Toronto with two touchdowns. Wally Gabler, Dick Thornton, Jim Dillard, Mary Luster and Joe Williams added the others. Dave Mann kicked a 15-yard field goal and six converts.

In the other Sunday game, Edmonton picked off two interceptions when the Lions threatened to score on their home field. Eskimo safety Ian MacLeod grabbed one pass at midfield in the third quarter and scored a major on a 54-yard run. Art Perkins scored the other Edmonton touchdown on a one-yard plunge. Peter Kempf kicked two converts and a 32-yard field goal for Edmonton and Lions Henry Schlichtle was forced into a safety touch.

GERELA ADDS 3

B.C. scoring came on a 29-yard field goal by Ted Gerela in the second quarter.

Monday at Ottawa, Riders quarterback Russ Jackson ran for two touchdowns and passed for two others—to end Margene Adkins and halfback Don Gilbert. End Moe Racine added a 33-yard field goal and four converts.

Alouettes' only counter was a third-quarter touchdown by defensive halfback Dave Lewis which went unconverted.

The other Monday game, at Regina, saw the opponents trade the lead after a scoreless first quarter. In the second, Gord Barwell and George Reed went over for the Saskatchewan touchdowns, and Hamilton picked up a field goal from Tommy-Joe Coffey and a single when Gene Wlasiuk conceded a punt by Joe Zuger.

FORD SCORES TD

Halfback Al Ford added Saskatchewan's other touchdown. Jack Abendschan added the other three points with a field goal from the 33-yard line. Hamilton picked up touchdowns by Gord Christian and Dave Fleming, and a pair of converts by Coffey, all in the second. Then a field goal by Coffey put Hamilton ahead briefly early in the fourth.

In the only Saturday game, Calgary had gained its temporary share of first place in the Western conference on three touchdowns by Herm Harrison and two by Terry Evensen. Bill Goods kicked four converts.

Hamilton's early attack fizzled, despite touchdowns by Glen Turner and singles on a Coffey convert and three kicks by quarterback Zuger.

THE FLOOD GATES OPENED

High throw from Roger Maris failed to catch Boston Red Sox' George Scott in ninth inning of Monday's world series game. Reggie Smith also scored on play as St. Louis catcher Tim

McCarver couldn't retrieve ball in time. Boston won 3-1 to keep series' hopes alive. Trailing St. Louis 3-2 they meet Cards in Boston Wednesday. (AP Wirephoto.)

'Youth Will Be Served'—And Youth Proved It

BOSTON (AP)—"Youth will be served," said Carl Yastrzemski as he stepped off the Red Sox' charter flight from St. Louis, and the words were barely out of his mouth as youth swung into action.

More than half of 1,000 cheering Boston fans pulled off an end run to foil security precautions at Logan International Airport Monday night and descended en masse on two buses carrying Red Sox and their wives.

The youthful fans streamed through a side door from the United Air Lines passenger terminal and poured around waiting jets, gasoline trucks, police cars and airport vehicles to mob the two buses.

Brewer's Gay Putter Douses Billy Casper

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Gay Brewer, the United States Masters champion, threw five birdies at Billy Casper, former U.S. Open king, and walked off with the $55,000 first prize Monday in a playoff for the World Golfer-of-the-Year title.

BILLY CASPER hit by Gay blade.

Brewer, from Dallas, Tex., fired a four-under-par 68 over the Old Course at St. Andrews for a four-shot edge over Casper, who had a 72. They had tied over the regulation 72 holes Sunday with 283.

Nineteen golfers, 11 Americans, seven British and New Zealanders Bob Charles, competed for golf's biggest prize.

NEVER BEHIND

The Texan's putter caught fire on the first hole where he rammed in one from 25 feet for a birdie 3 and the touch never deserted him.

He canned another 25-footer for a birdie at the fourth and a seven-footer for yet another birdie at the fifth. Brewer went out in 33 and was 4 up.

He came back in 35 against Casper's 37-35-72.

"This course suits me," Brewer said afterward. "I don't have a reputation as a straight driver on the American circuit. Here I felt as though I would not be in too much trouble if I hooked or faded."

Brewer had six single putts over the 6,926-yard seaside links and even driving rain and some grey skies failed to put him off his game.

Here's how the others finished:

283—George Archer ($7,500).
285—Brian Barnes ($3,800).
285—Christy O'Connor, Gardner Dickinson, Bobby Nichols ($4,250).
286—Dave Stockton ($2,800).

Chiefs Swap Quarter

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas City Chiefs Sunday traded No. 2 quarterback Pete Beathard to Houston Oilers for 290-pound defensive tackle Ernie Ladd, quarterback Jack Lee and Houston's first draft choice in 1968.

St. Louis Cardinals arrived at Logan two hours after the Red Sox and were based to their motel in suburban Quincy.

They've got 27 nails to put in that coffin they're talking about in St. Louis. These kids are great. They do everything you want."

The Sox are down three games to two after winning 3-1 Monday what would have been their last game of the season.

"It will be the same as playing Minnesota to win the pennant," Yastrzemski said of the game Wednesday at Fenway Park.

Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe, who arrived on the plane with the team and was all but ignored in the rush to the clubhouse, said of his lobster vs. Missouri country ham bet with Gov. Warren Hearnes: "He's been after me all week, but I'm going to end up eating his ham."

'Same as Minnesota' Says Confident Mike Andrews

BOSTON (AP)—St. Louis Cardinals still have to drive 27 nails.

Manager Dick Williams, of Boston, said it before Monday's game, and the statement was still pertinent after the Red Sox defeated the Cardinals 3-1 in St. Louis and sliced their World Series deficit to three games to two.

The Cardinals got the 27 outs they needed, but in between some of them the Red Sox scored three runs and that was all Jim Lonborg needed.

Lonborg missed matching his second-game shutout when Roger Maris homered with two out in the ninth inning.

He still wound up with a three-hitter and a record for allowing the fewest hits in two consecutive Series games. He stopped the Cardinals on one hit last Thursday.

The Red Sox were confident they could pull it out and become only the fourth team in history to take the championship after being down 3-1.

Now it's up to Gary Waslewski, a 26-year-old righthander, to keep the Series alive for Lonborg to come back in the seventh game. When the teams resume here Wednesday, Waslewski will be opposed by Dick Hughes, the loser in Lonborg's first victory.

The Red Sox added a clinching pair of runs in the ninth. After they loaded the bases against Ron Willis on a walk to George Scott, Reggie Smith's double and an intentional walk to Rico Petrocelli, Elston Howard blooped a double to Jack Lamabe into right field.

Scott raced home and Smith followed when Maris' throw to the plate was wild.

The Cardinals had pulled ahead, Saturday and Sunday with 5-2 and 6-0 victories.

Nelson Briles, Shannon and Brock combined to lead the Cardinals Saturday. Briles pitched a seven-inning, Shannon whacked a two-run homer and Brock scored two runs after collecting a triple and a single.

Big Bob Gibson slapped the Red Sox down Sunday with a masterful five-hitter. The Cards put it away in the first inning with Maris' two-run double the key blow in a four-run outburst.

Lonborg, who previously this year has pitched with just two days rest twice, isn't afraid of the seventh game, in which he would tangle with Bob Gibson, St. Louis' two-game winner.

STAGED TO VICTORY

The 24-year-old, right-handed Lonborg never was in trouble Monday, and after the Red Sox picked up a pair of runs in the top of the ninth even Maris' homer didn't bother him.

The only other hits he allowed were singles by Dal Maxvill in the third and Maris in the fourth.

"I thought when I came into the game I was psychologically ready, and I thought I could beat them," said the Red Sox ace who pitched for the third time in nine days and the fifth time in 16 days.

Lou Brock was one of the batters against whom his pitches were working. Brock is 8-for-12 against the other Boston pitchers but 0-for-8 against Lonborg.

JOE GOES BIG

Cards Spoil Kapp's Fling

By The Canadian Press

A come-from-behind effort by St. Louis spoiled Joe Kapp's first National Football League assignment Sunday as the Cardinals beat Minnesota Vikings 34-24.

Kapp was a passing star for eight years with Calgary and British Columbia in the Canadian Football League before the Vikings acquired him on the eve of the NFL season.

The 29-year-old Kapp guided Minnesota to a 17-10 half-time lead and staked the Vikings to a 24-13 lead early in the fourth quarter with an 85-yard scoring pass to rookie Gene Washington.

But Jim Hart rallied the Cardinals in the last seven minutes as St. Louis scored three quick touchdowns and handed the Vikings their third loss of the season.

Kapp finished the game with 12 completions in 22 tries for 266 yards.

In other NFL weekend action, Baltimore crushed Chicago 14-3, Green Bay dumped Detroit 27-17, New York defeated New Orleans 27-21, Philadelphia coasted to a 38-7 victory over Atlanta, Dallas edged Washington 14-14, Pittsburgh beat Cleveland 21-10, and San Francisco upset Los Angeles 27-24.

SETT RUNBACK RECORD

Rookie Rich Volk scored on a 94-yard runback of a pass interception—longest in Baltimore history—on the final play of the game.

Volk assured the unbeaten Colts of their fourth league win in the last quarter. The Bears, now 1-3, had driven 74 yards. Rudy Bukich's pass from the eight was grabbed near the corner by Volk. He raced down the sidelines, slipped through an attempted tackle by Bukich on the Bear 15 and bolted into the end zone.

Unbeaten Green Bay battled from behind with a 17-point fourth-quarter surge to beat Detroit.

The victory was Green Bay's third in a row after a season opening 17-17 tie with Detroit. The Packers, who knotted the score at 10-10 in the third quarter on the second of three field goals by Don Chandler, took command of the rugged defensive game by exploding for 10 points in the first two minutes of the fourth quarter.

PLAYERS FIGHT

Fran Tarkenton threw two touchdowns and set up two others with a pair of 44-yard strikes in pacing New York to its victory over the winless New Orleans Saints. The game ended in a near riot.

New York and New Orleans players exchanged punches at midfield and near the Giant bench after the gun sounded.

The Giants' defensive back, Freeman White, was involved in a swinging skirmish with tackle George Harvey and end Jim Garcia of the Saints before teammates rushed in to intervene.

Philadelphia demoralized Atlanta with a 24-point outburst in the first quarter as the Eagles coasted to their victory over the winless Falcons.

Quarterback Norm Snead tossed a 67-yard touchdown pass to Gary Ballman, threw a two-yard scoring strike to Mike Ditka and set up another touchdown with a 59-yard pitch to lead the Eagles to their third victory against one loss.

Quarterback Don Meredith hit running back Dan Reeves for a touchdown on a 36-yard pass play with 18 seconds left as Dallas defeated Washington.

Frank Ryan fired three touchdowns and shredded Pittsburgh's league-leading rushing defence as the Browns picked up their second win of the season.

San Francisco 49ers, presented with a 20-0 lead in the first half, blew it in the third quarter but came back in the final period Sunday to beat Los Angeles Rams out of the thinning ranks of unbeaten teams in the NFL.

The Rams scored three touch-

Spitz Shatters Butterfly Mark

BERLIN (AP) — Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., smashed the world's record for the 100-metre butterfly Saturday, churning the distance in 55.68 seconds in a swimming meet between West Germany and the United States.

The listed world record of 56.3 was held jointly by Spitz and Douglas Russell of Midland, Tex.

Dolphins Dunked 41-0 by Kansas

By The Canadian Press

Kansas City Chiefs, defending champions of the American Football League, returned to their winning ways with a vengeance Sunday, crushing the Miami Dolphins 41-0.

In other weekend AFL action, Buffalo edged Denver 17-16, New York beat Oakland 27-14 and Boston and San Diego fought to a 31-31 tie.

Kansas City rolled to its win as flanker Otis Taylor and right end Fred Arbanas each caught two touchdown passes from Len Dawson.

The Chiefs, knocked off by Oakland a week ago, started the scoring parade with a razzle-dazzle broken play by a razzle-dazzle broken play by Mike Garrett started around the right side, was stopped and tossed the ball back to Dawson, who fired a 71-yard touchdown pass to Taylor.

MAKE MANY ERRORS

Buffalo and Denver traded mistakes that led to all the touchdowns in their penalty-marred game. The Bills picked up the win on Mike Mercer's point after touchdown kick with three minutes left.

Canada Selects Team For Little Olympics

MONTREAL — Canada is sending a contingent of 38 athletes, coaches and technical personnel to the Little Olympics in Mexico, Oct. 15-28.

The athletes are scheduled to arrive in Mexico 12 days in advance of their final day of competition. The games are a prelude to the 1968 Olympics and will be held at the same locales and dates which will give the competing countries a chance to see how the performances will be affected.

E. Howard Radford, secretary of the Canadian Olympic Association said, "We are not sending anyone whose participation in a given event lasts less than two minutes."

Dr. Paul Hauch of London, Ont., will conduct tests to determine the teams' physical reactions in the rarified atmosphere.

Competing in the events will be boxer Elio Ius of Vancouver; wrestlers Kurt Boese of Kitchener and Bob Chamberot of Montreal; cyclist Marcel Roy of Lac Megantic, Que.; track and field performers Abbie Hoffman, Dave Bailey and Jenny Wingeron-Meldrum of Toronto; Brian MacLaren of Winnipeg and Gerry Moro of Trail; swimmers Ralph Hutton of Campbell River, Sandy Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, Tom Arusso of Montreal and Bill Mahoney of New Westminster; and canoeists Chris Hook, Bill Roberts, Arpad Simoyik and Bob Kay of Montreal.

Princess Vega Goes Out With Flourish

By HAL MALONE

Leave it to a girl to do things with a flourish. Princess Vega, the feminine apple of Dave Diamond's eye, said au revoir to the racetrack Thanksgiving Day. Lots of horses leave but few do it in such grand style.

The Princess sloshed through the mud three parts of a length ahead of Sefton Park and Keno's Boy in the $1,200 Sidney Special.

Next spring Princess Vega will settle down to light house-keeping on Diamond's farm. One of her first visitors will be Diamond's outstanding stallion Junior Balladier. From the mating of those Kentucky-breeds, Dave hopes to come up with something that can run a little. If the baby is anything like her mother, it will have a proclivity for mud and a heart as big as a grandstand.

The Princess won five of 20 starts and $8,991 last year. This season she hasn't had it so rich. Mainly because of a horse called This Is True.

Three times this summer he pinned her ears back. Thanksgiving Day he was 6.5 to do it again. But the Princess was a half-stride ahead out of the gate. Basil Frazier had to push the accelerator to the floor to catch her and take a head lead into the backstretch.

But Sandy Shields kept right on This Is True's posterior and when he was ready it was all over. This Is True finished a fatigued fourth.

Princess Vega paid $7.30. Last year on a greasy track she won the same race and paid $7.30.

This Is True 'Locked' in the Goo

Shields' strategy was to stay close to and on the outside of This Is True "as long as possible before making my move."

"It was deep on the inside and I was prepared to let This Is True stay there. I could have gone by him sooner but I didn't want to get down in that deep mud until I had to."

Frazier said This Is True "bobbed" a few times in the heavy going. "It didn't help to have Princess Vega right behind me. She's a very good mare. Especially when it's wet."

All in all it was quite a weekend for Shields. He's been the king of the prairie bull rings since bread was invented. Saturday he showed his cunning by cutting all the corners in both divisions of the Sandown Derby.

First he took Frank McMahon's Betty's Pride whom many (including the world's winningest jockey Johnny Longden) doubted you could drag a mile and a sixteenth to a length and a half victory.

Sandy kept Betty's Pride within calling distance of Never Change and Esau's Pride. When they decided to cut out after five-eighths of a mile, Shields ducked through on the inside, opened up daylight and laughed all the way home.

Handsome Chief a Cinderella Horse

In Solid and Uncle Roddy, the "good things," finished second and third. Uncle Roddy was chopping the leaders down in the stretch but mostly on his own. Leading rider Basil Frazier, suffering from a sore left shoulder, couldn't put any zip into his whipping.

In the second division of the Derby, Shields sat patiently like a man who knows all along what is going to happen.

He knew that Handsome Chief feels about mud the way Jim Longborg feels about the Cardinals.

When Shields said "giddyap" Handsome Chief lit out and never looked back. Golden Wines was second, War Treasure third.

Shields felt he was "lucky" to get through with Betty's Pride. When the front-runners died, it just happened to be there. I knew this filly moves up in mud and I decided to open up with her and let them try and catch us."

Of Handsome Chief, Shields said: "He's a superior mud horse." He's also a vastly improved horse. He didn't win his first race until Aug. 14. As late as Sept. 4 he could have been claimed for $2,000.

The race lost some of its lustre when the outstanding prairie colt Big Cheese, high-weighted at 125, was withdrawn.

Rain Drowned Out Mutuel Symphony

Shields who had a choice between Big Cheese and Handsome Chief (and took Big Cheese; when he was scratched Sandy climbed on Handsome Chief) said he believed Big Cheese "might have won by five lengths" had he run.

"He's not the mud horse Handsome Chief is," Shields said. "But he's really a good one."

Continuous rain held Saturday's attendance to 1,600 and put a crimp in the mutuel handle. It settled at $120,381, down a sizeable $36,000.

Despite overcast skies, a crowd of 4,527 sat in at Monday and pumped $169,962 through the windows, a gain of $6,000.

MUTUEL MURMURS ...

With his victory on Rough Road Saturday, Bill Frazier wrapped up the B.C. riding title with 83 victories, one more than Joe Baze who departed a month ago for the east. ... Frazier pushed his B.C. total to 84 Monday (aboard Royal Chic) and leads the Sandown parade with 23. ... Jack Phillips drove in two winners Monday (Speed Command at $25.40 and the favored Who's Haydn at $3.10) for his 15th and 16th of the meet. ... Numbers bettors had a ball Saturday when Avons Browne and Whip N' Blinks (13 letter in each name) running in the first race on the 13th day, combined for a $315.10 one two. ... There were 32 $2 tickets and two $5 tickets sold on the pair.

Hawks Regain Prestige By Blanking Bucks 5-0

Chicago Black Hawks open their National Hockey League season on home ice Wednesday night against New York Rangers after regaining part of their big-league prestige at Memorial Arena.

Clipped 5-4 by Seattle Totems last Thursday and able to manage only a 2-1 decision over the Buckaroos at Portland the following night, the Hawks finally overpowered a Western Hockey League club Saturday at a capacity Victoria crowd.

Although they didn't exactly look like the powerhouse of last season, the Hawks had too many big-league touches for the Buckaroos and skated easily to a 5-0 triumph in their final pre-season exhibition game.

STARS MISSING

There were, of course, a few reasons why the Hawks didn't sparkle like the Hawks of television. Sidelined by the rash of injuries that have troubled Chicago in the training camp, pair were established stars Stan Mikita, Doug Mohns and Dennis Hull. And of the 24 players dressed by coach Billy Reay, 15 were newcomers.

However, the fans appeared to enjoy efforts of the main Chicago stars in a game that produced fire only in the second period, when the Hawks scored their first four goals.

Drawing the most attention were veterans Bobby Hull, who fired many of his famed slap shots but was probably more impressive when he unleashed powerful wrist shots, Kenny Wharram, Pierre Pilote and Eric Nesterenko.

GOYER SPARKLES

Most impressive of the rookies were Gerry Goyer, for man, season a leading centre in the W.H.L., and 22-year-old Wayne Maki, up from St. Louis and bidding to join brother Chico as a Chicago regular.

Wayne and Chico got the first two goals. Wharram collected the third before Hull finally connected on a slap shot. Nesterenko scored in the final period.

Buckaroos, who number veteran W.H.L. stars Andy Hebenton, Norm Johnson and Dick Meissner among their new players and appear likely to run away with the W.H.L. race, started and finished strongly but couldn't get any of 29 shots past Chicago goalie Dave Dryden.

Portland goalie Dave Kelly, shaken up in the first period when hit on the head by a shot, blocked 32 drives before a Wharram drive about the right ear put him out of action in the third session.

Earlier calls over the P.A. system had failed to bring spare netminder Jim Shaw to the Portland bench and Reay sent one of his reserves, Andre Gagnon, to play the final eight minutes in the Buckaroo net.

VICTORIANS EDGED 3-2 . . .

O'Keefe Switch Too Late

Columbus 3, O'Keefe's 2

Victor O'Keefe manager Frank Grealy's preference is for a short-passing game, but the condition of the Royal Athletic Park turf imposes a change of plans.

Grealy took a second look at the strategy book Sunday after O'Keefe's were clipped, 3-2, by Vancouver Columbus at Athletic Park.

It was Victoria's second home setback in three Pacific Coast Soccer League starts. Victoria was beaten only once in 14 home games last year while playing at Macdonald Park.

The new turf at Athletic Park hasn't grown in as it should, and its condition is obviously affecting Grealy's game plans.

"You can't play that short game on this field," said Grealy. "And against Columbus, it took us too long to change over."

"Too long" on Sunday covered about one half of the match. Peter Mainardi's squad jumped off to a 2-0 lead within 30 minutes, then made it 3-0 in the 60th minute before Victoria's attack took over.

Both Victoria goals—by Ray

Telford and Ike MacKay—came in the last five minutes of the game. They served only to make the score respectable because Columbus, sparked by a standout game by centre half Bob Hazeldine, earned full marks on its three scoring efforts.

Vanni Lenarduzzi, Bob Metcalfe and Sergio Zanatta scored the goals.

When O'Keefe's resorted to more of the "big kick" game in the second half, the Victorians came on strongly. By then, however, it was too late. Hazeldine completely controlled the centre of the field.

When Victoria attackers did get around to solving that bottle-neck, they found they also had to deal with goalkeeper Peter Ahrend.

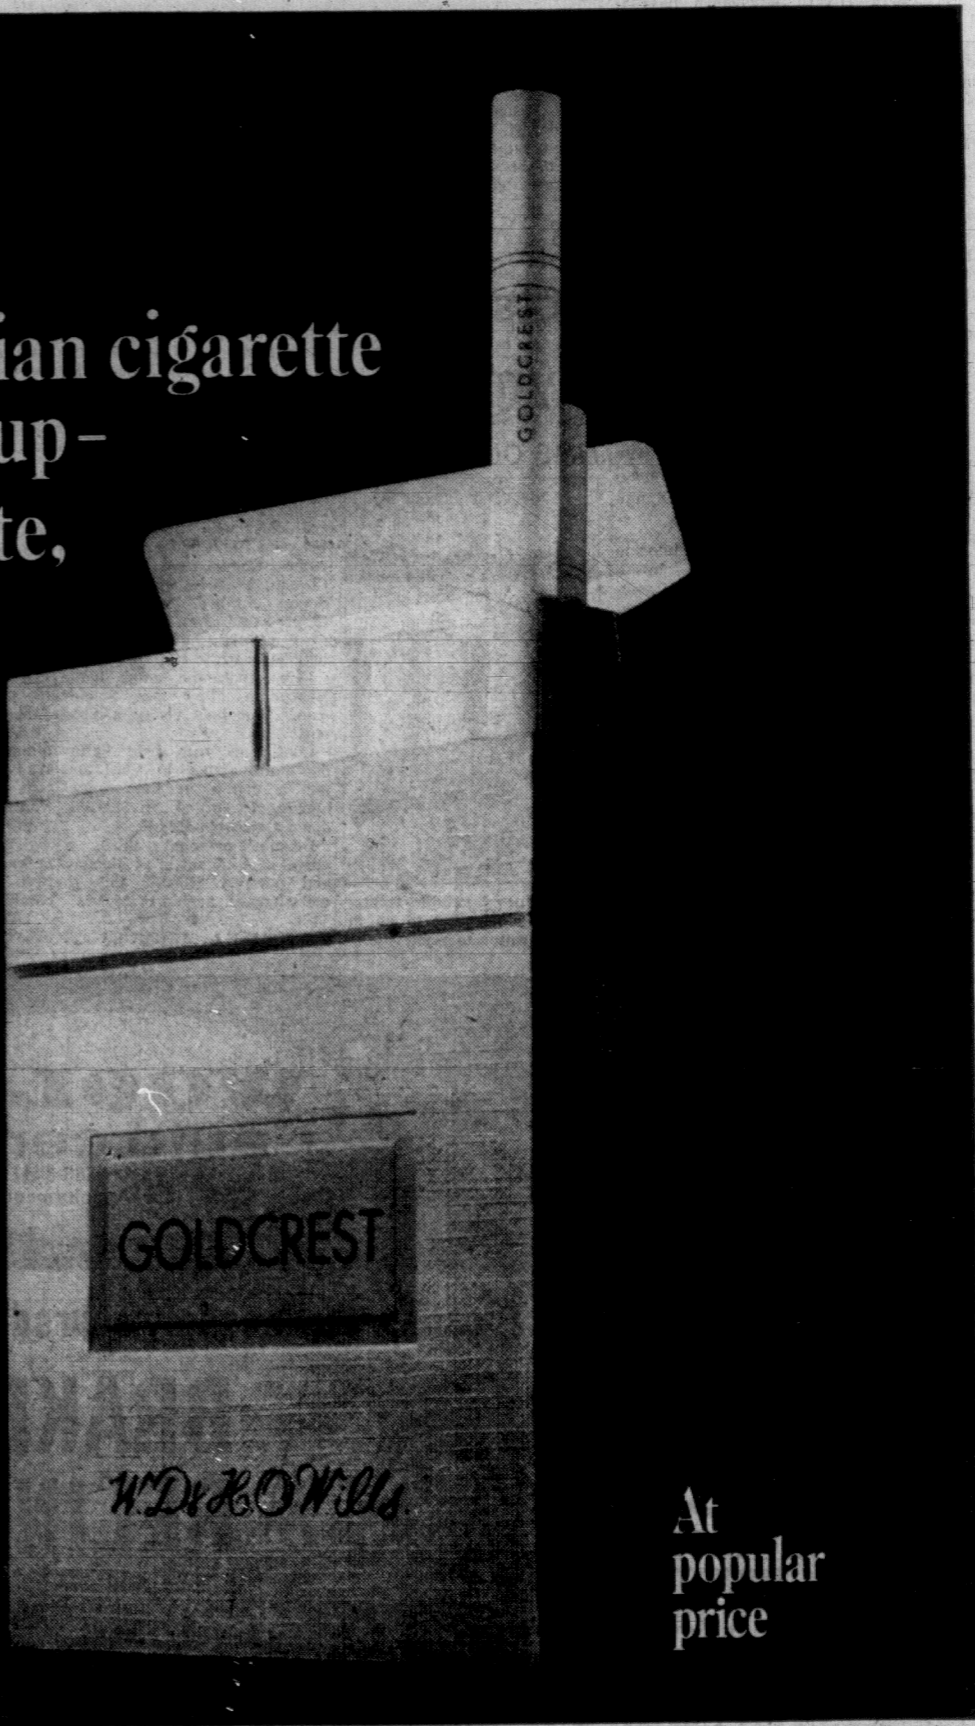

Ahrend also played a strong game. He was particularly brilliant late in the first half, robbing Victoria's Bert Soutar on two great chances.

O'Keefe's now get a chance to try their luck on the Callister Park field in Vancouver. Victoria plays North Shore next Sunday in the first of six matches on the mainland.

Saturday's attendance was 807.

Figures Don't Explain Tough Eugene Defence

... back in action

EVERETT, Wash.—Figures may not lie but Victoria coach Don McKeta today is ready to give an argument to anybody who suggests gridiron statistics always tell a true story.

McKeta's Steelers picked up 18 first downs to 17 for Eugene Bombers in a Continental Football League game here Sunday and the Victorians gained a total of 312 yards while the Bombers had a total offense of 273 yards.

Yet the Bombers thumped the Steelers 40-6 to climb into fourth place in the league's western division while the Steelers slipped deeper into the sixth spot.

Untold by the statistical story was the work of the Eugene defensive unit, which accounted for three touchdowns and usually wrecked the Steelers on the several occasions the Victorians worked the ball into scoring position.

Two interceptions of passes tossed by quarterback Pat Mills stopped Victoria's drives in the opening quarter and the Bombers moved into a 13-0 halftime lead under the signal-calling of polished Paul Brothers.

"Brothers went 14 yards for a touchdown in a first-quarter keeper play and heaved a payoff pass to Bill Ford in the second period.

RAMBLER 99 YARDS

Hugh Oldham jolted the Steelers as the third quarter opened, taking the kickoff and rambling 99 yards for a touchdown but the Victorians were still in the game. Mills fired two first-down passes to Bruce Kramer and another to Steve Jones before packing the ball the final yard for the lone Victoria score.

Steelers were on the move early in the final quarter when Mills fumbled after being hit from the blind side on a passing attempt. Dennis Brewster scooped up the bouncing ball and rambled 41 yards for a major score.

Then the Eugene defensive unit struck again as Tim Temple intercepted a Victoria pass and ran 45 yards to payoff territory. Eugene's final TD came on a 39-yard pass to Chester Ward.

Tom Roach converted four of the six Bomber touchdowns.

STRONG ON DEFENSE

Cheering McKeta somewhat was some strong work by Victoria defenders, particularly Fred Forsberg and newcomer Tom Burns.

On attack, Steelers got some good efforts by halfback Steve Jones, little Steve Bramwell, who operated as a running fullback, and quarterback Terry Durham, who showed little effect of leg injuries as he directed the club well in the closing stages.

Durham appears likely to get the starting assignment when the Steelers return to Victoria's Royal Athletic Park next Saturday night to tackle the powerful Orange County Ramblers from Anaheim.

Polished passing. Hornets were leading 8-6 after the first quarter but the improving Oak Bay crew, slowly gaining the upper hand through a more polished passing attack, was leading 19-8 at the half.

Farmers extended the margin to 34-8 in the fourth quarter before Fiddick broke loose again and scampered 60 yards for the final touchdown.

Dave Granlin, with a single and convert, and Mike Herold, with a convert, also counted points for Hornets.

Gary Johnston scored on two touchdowns for Farmers, who also got majors from Jim Forward, on an 80-yard run; Dan Savard, on an interception; and Terry Karpiuk. Bob Hammer booted three converts and a single for Oak Bay.

At Duncan, the Timbermen appeared headed for an easy afternoon as they romped to a 19-0 first quarter lead over their lighter and younger rivals.

The Gordie Hemingway-coached Mustangs made it 19-6 in the second quarter and trimmed the deficit to five points, at 23-20, in the third session to give the Timbermen the trembles.

However, the Cowichan club, aided by the power running of fullback Dave Mann, settled down to take complete charge in the final 15 minutes and scored 26 points without a reply.

GRID BIRDS BLANKED ASHLAND, Ore. (CP) — The University of British Columbia Thunderbirds were blanked 20-0 in a football game here by the Ashland squad Saturday night.

Scottish Lamb Subdues Lions In Cup Battle

Canadian Scottish had some anxious moments before the Lamb slapped the Lions and made it a happy Thanksgiving weekend for District Soccer struggles.

Russ Lamb scored on a pass from winger Franz Van Doesburg with six minutes remaining at Royal Athletic Park Sunday to give Scottish a 4-3 triumph over Red Lion Inn in the Jackson Cup final.

Victory in the silverware struggle came two days after the Scots had climbed out in front in the league's first division race by clipping the Uvic Vikings 3-1 at the University of Victoria.

In another first division tussle Saturday, Bud Livingstone fired three goals to give Tally-Ho a 3-1 triumph over Hourigan's Kickers.

Second division sides took over the soccer scene Sunday and George Pakos grabbed the spotlight, scoring six times as London Boxing Club waited past Sidney Hotel 8-1 for a fourth straight victory.

Island Tug also made it four straight and remained in a first-place deadlock with the boxers by clipping University Norsemans 3-0.

Red Lion grabbed a 2-0 lead after 14 minutes in Monday's cup clash but the Scots forged ahead 3-2 before the first half ended on two goals by Gil McIlraith and a single by John Hughes.

Ken Bedford, counted for Lions 35 minutes after the intermission and Lamb connected to win the four minutes later.

Scottish held a 1-0 half-time lead in Saturday's league match, yielded a tally to Dave Evans and then collected the win over the Vikings as Van Doesburg scored on a long free kick and Jack Bruerker fired his second goal of the game.

Junior Champ Wrecks Bob's Bid for Double

Bob Hunt slipped a bit on the homeward trip Monday to barely miss making it two golf victories in two days.

Hunt, who had retained his Uplands Golf Club title Sunday with a 7-and-6 victory over club junior champion Dave McCall in the 36-hole final, was tripped by another clubmate—city junior king Mike Gray—in the annual Thanksgiving Day tournament at Uplands.

Gray and Hunt each finished with a par 70. One under par on the first nine, Hunt needed 36 strokes on the inward trip while Gray, out in 36, came in with a one-under 34 to earn the gross award on the basis of a better back-nine tally.

Ontario Open champ Bill Wakeham was one stroke behind the leaders and Frank Scroggs was fourth at 74.

Main prize in the handicap tourney was collected by Hal Church, a 21-handicap player from Glen Meadows, who paced the 148-player field with a net 66.

Three swingers were tied at 68 with a draw placing (Gerry) G. M. Smith (75-7) second, Walter Jeannes (81-13) third and Dr. K. Leslie (87-19) fourth.

Sunday's scheduled final in the Gorge Vale club championship between George Murphy and Al MacLeod was postponed indefinitely after Murphy was involved in a traffic accident and hospitalized with a neck injury.

Semifinal matches were completed in the Colwood club tournament with city champion Ricky Kent outlasting Ron Howard Sr. 6 and 4 and Fred Ranson outlasting Don Tuttle to win on the seventh extra hole.

At Gorge Vale Saturday, service personnel defeated the civilians 44-37 to win the Commodore Spencer Trophy in the annual Dockyard tournament.

George Moon posted the best gross score (77) and Whitey Turner tied Harold Anderson for handicap honors as each finished with a net 70.

Pro Exhibition Draws 3,000
VANCOUVER (CP)—Six-foot-nine centre Zelmo Beatty scored 41 points in leading St. Louis Hawks to a 139-116 exhibition National Basketball Association victory over Seattle SuperSonics before 3,000 fans Saturday night.

The 235-pound Beatty also pulled down 24 rebounds as St. Louis won the first game between the teams this season. Forward Joe Caldwell scored 34 for the Hawks while guard George Lehmra, a rookie, added 20. Guard Rod Thorn paced Seattle with 21 points while Tom Meschery added 19.

Pine Point Wins Breeders' Stakes
TORONTO (CP)—Pine Point Saturday won the $34,000 Breeders' Stakes at Toronto's Woodbine racetrack.

Avelino Gomez was aboard the three-year-old Saul Wagon-owned colt for this, the third jewel in Canada's triple crown of racing.

Pine Point beat out Batling and Yahoo Wahoo in the mile-and-four-furlong classic. She was the odds-on-choice of the more than 13,000 fans and paid $3.40, $2.30, and $2.10.

SOCCER KING AGREES TO THREE-YEAR PACT

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Pele, the king of world soccer, has renewed his contract with Sao Paulo's Santos Club for three more years.

The star, whose real name is Edson Arantes do Nascimento, and who will be 27 October 23, will make $4,500 a month.

He will also receive $740 for each international match he plays in South America and $1,900 for each match he plays outside of South America. His over-all earnings, however, are estimated at from $250,000 to $500,000 a year.

Nancy Hill's Goal Gives Canada Win

BELFAST (Reuters) — The Canadian women's field hockey team defeated Ulster, Northern Ireland, 1-0 Monday on a goal by vice-captain Nancy Hill 10 minutes from the end here.

The Canadians, who won three matches out of six in a recent international tournament in West Germany, were lucky to remain unbeaten in Britain.

Heavy rain stopped only an hour before the match. Both teams had difficulty keeping their balance and there were many mistakes.

Ulster had the best scoring chances in the first half and Canadian goalkeeper Joyce Harris of West Vancouver did well to stop shots from Jennifer Carnaghan and Moire McKenley.

Miss Hill, from Victoria, scored from a goalmouth scramble. After that the Canadians were on the defensive and only a hasty clearance by Miss Harris stopped Carnaghan's bid for a last-minute equalizer.

Aussie Star Encourages Net Rebels
LONDON (AP) — Britain's rebel tennis chiefs saw gleams of hope Saturday that they won't be going it alone in promoting an open Wimbledon tournament next year.

They received encouragement from at least three tennis-minded countries — Australia, South Africa and Sweden.

Australia's John Newcombe, the reigning Wimbledon champion, was quoted as saying he would defend his title next year even if pros are competing and even if Australia's tennis rulers forbid it.

His words were sweet music to the council of the British Lawn Tennis association which Thursday decided to defy the International Lawn Tennis Federation and invite professionals to compete alongside the amateurs at Wimbledon and other tournaments next year.

10 P.M. PARTY START ON NEW YEAR'S EVE

Attorney-General Robert Bonner has indicated New Year's Eve parties in public premises begun after 10 p.m. will be all right with him, even though the event falls on a Sunday this year.

He issued a statement repeating word-for-word his press release in 1961 when the same situation applied, saying he was issuing no directives to police.

However, this department does not expect to receive complaints about public parties, commenced after 10 p.m., he added. Liquor Control Board permits for private drinking parties will be issued to start at midnight.

C. Saanich Street Light Policy Sought

Street lighting policies will be one of the main subjects discussed at the next meeting of Central Saanich Council.

Council has already approved a rental agreement with B.C. Hydro and Power Authority for the installation of lights at 21 intersections. They are expected to be installed within the next two weeks.

But as yet council has no definite policy for street lighting of urban districts.

Coun. Archibald Galbraith said he will propose a street lighting program for Brentwood and other urban districts.

"It's something we should tackle next year," he said. "We are getting more and more requests for lights."

McGill Honor For Eight Premiers

MONTREAL (CP) — McGill University will honor the Canadian provinces at its Founder's Day Convocation Wednesday by conferring honorary doctorates of law on eight provincial premiers.

The two provincial premiers not receiving degrees are Ross Thatcher, premier of Saskatchewan, who is having a general election in his province on that date, and Duff Roblin of Manitoba who received an honorary degree from McGill in 1966.

Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson was to have attended the ceremony, but he has notified the university that he will be unable to accept the degree in person because of his health, and it will be granted to him in absentia.

Governor-General Roland Michener will attend the Founder's Day ceremonies in his first official function as Visitor of McGill University.

Ex-Victorian Wins Ballet Scholarship

A dancing scholarship with Les Grand Ballet Canadiens in Montreal has been awarded the daughter of a former Victoria-based Canadian Army couple.

She is Miss Margaret Edmiston, 15, daughter of Staff Sergeant and Mrs. R. A. Edmiston.

The scholarship, for the 1967-68 season, was granted following an eight-week course at the ballet company's summer school. Miss Edmiston began her training in Montreal, and on her father's posting to Esquimalt studied under Wynne Shaw. Staff Sergeant Edmiston, a member of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, was based at West Point Barracks from 1963 to 1966, and became well known in Masonic Lodge and civilian activities in Victoria.

Canoeists Plan Race On Fraser

Victoria canoeists are invited to participate in a two-day Centennial canoe race down the Fraser River this weekend.

Sponsored by the Simon Fraser University Outdoor Club, it is open to men and women with standard canoes.

The course is from Mission to Annacis Island near New Westminster, to be completed in two days.

Aggregate prizes will be awarded for the first, second and third places in each class, computed on placings in each stage. It is anticipated that by race date, prizes may be offered by others for stage placings.

FIRST STAGE

On the first day of the race, stages to be covered are from Mission to a point on Stave River; Stave River to Fort Langley.

Second day, Fort Langley to Pitt River bridge; Pitt River bridge to Annacis.

Celebrations will be held at the end of the race.

The various classes open to canoeists are: canoes up to and including 16 feet, male crew; canoes up to and including 15 feet, male - female crew; canoes, 17 feet or greater, male crew; canoes 17 feet, male - female crew.

Those wishing to enter the race should submit names to the Simon Fraser Outdoor Club. Entry fee is $5 per canoe, or $2.50 per person.

NO 'BUCKPASSING'

'Hip' Paper Suspension Praised

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Supreme Court has refused an application by the editors of the hippie newspaper George Straight for an injunction restraining the city of Vancouver from suspending their business licence.

Mr. Justice Thomas Dohm also commended Mayor Tom Campbell and city licence inspector Milton Harrell in a written judgment.

"I am of the opinion that his worship Mayor Campbell and chief licence inspector Mr. Harrell should be highly commended for their prompt actions (in a situation which calls for promptness and not 'buckpassing')."

Campbell said in his affidavit to the court that he had received many phone calls and letters complaining about the publication and its distribution.

He said he was especially concerned that George Straight was being sold to children on school grounds.

Dohm said he held the city's actions were commendable after he read the exhibits.

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy
Contains a Unique Healing Substance
That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "Itching Piles". It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief—here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions—even cases of long standing.

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—developed by a world-renowned research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Sauve Plans Tour to Boost 'Partnership'

OTTAWA (CP)—Forestry Minister Sauve said today he plans a personal campaign across Canada to sell English-speaking Canadians on a nine-point plan to bring about an equal partnership between French and English.

He said in an interview the partnership must give French-speaking Canadians opportunities to have a meaningful role in the political and economic life of the country.

First item in his program is the development of a bilingual federal civil service in Ottawa and other areas where the bilingual population is large enough to warrant it.

The nine-point program was originally set out in a speech he delivered 11 months ago to the Montreal Chamber of Commerce.

Its eight other points are:
1. Development of a truly bilingual capital district.
2. Access to senior posts in the civil service and federal corporations for qualified French-Canadians.

3. Establishment of French public schools in areas with sufficient numbers of children to take advantage of them.

4. Opportunities for French-Canadians in private corporations.

5. Extension across Canada of French radio and TV networks.

6. Federal aid for cultural activities.

7. A special effort to see that more research grants are awarded to French-Canadians.

8. Bilingual staffs for embassies abroad.

Oft-Married Manville Dead at 73

NEW YORK (UPI)—A private funeral service for Tommy Manville, 73, the publicity-keen asbestos heir who had 11 wives, will probably be held Wednesday, the Frank E. Campbell Funeral Home said Monday.

Manville died at his secluded Chappaqua, N.Y., home Sunday with his 11th wife, German-born Christina Erdlen, at his side.

Mrs. Manville, 26, had been the millionaire's wife for seven years, a duration second only to the 14-year marriage of Manville to his first wife, showgirl Florence Huber. He married Miss Huber in 1911 when he was 17, against the wishes of his father, a founder of the Johns-Manville Corp.

"The first thing I say to a girl is 'Will you marry me?'" the second is "How do you do?" he told the press which he always kept well-informed of his marital activities.

Huge Mirror 'Blank' For B.C. Telescope

NEW YORK (CP)—The largest fused silica telescope mirror blank ever made has been completed by Corning

Glass Works Ltd. for the Mount Kobau National Observatory in British Columbia, the company announced Monday.

The 18-ton blank is 157 inches in diameter and 25 inches thick. When ground, polished and coated, the blank will be the primary optical element in the observatory's Queen Elizabeth II telescope. The telescope is expected to go into operation in 1974.

The observatory will be located on 6,200-foot Mount Kobau in the Okanagan.

Corning said it had ground the instrument to the approximate configurations specified by the observatory's astronomers, who will direct the final grinding, polishing and coating.

Cost of the blank was not disclosed.

Nobel Winner Dies

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Norman Angell, author and Nobel Peace Prize winner who spent his youth in the American West as a cowboy and gold prospector, died in an old people's home near here during the weekend. He was 91. An economist, lecturer and onetime correspondent in Europe for various American newspapers, Angell was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1933 after he had become a passionate champion of peace.

NO STRIKE FUND EITHER

CS Members Reject Bid To Join Labor Federation

PENTICTON (CP)—Members of the B.C. Government Employees' Association Saturday expressed no interest in joining the B.C. Federation of Labor.

A resolution at the annual convention, asking for a membership vote on such action, was rejected.

C. A. S. Devitt, association vice-president, told the 68 delegates it is against the policy to take part in "partisan political activity."

Fraser Valley delegate Wayne Dermody said a link with the federation would have stabilized the union organization, and helped the association.

Delegates also voted against establishing a strike fund. The proposal was contained in a resolution introduced by the Essondale branch of the association. It called for 20 per cent or $40,000 of the association's dues to be set aside.

BUILD UP

Ed Bodner, a representative of the Essondale branch, said the fund would build up psychological security among employees in case they decided to threaten a strike.

Vice-president Devitt again dissented. He said the amount would not be sufficient to pay the association's 12,000 members.

"All the association's funds are available in case of a strike," added treasurer G. F. Boyd.

In another resolution, the association asked the provincial government to close at midnight two Vancouver liquor stores which are currently open until 2 a.m.

Delegates also backed other resolutions asking:

• The government to allow employees to accumulate hol-day time during periods of more than one year.

• Unemployment insurance benefits be extended to members earning more than $5,460 a year.

• The association to approach a supplier to sell goods to its members at a discount.

The convention agreed to support government-sponsored automobile insurance, make administrative courses available to all government employees, and press to provide retiring employees of more than 20 years' service a full month's salary and a fifth of his monthly salary for each year of service over 20 years.

The four top members of the executive were re-elected.

Re-elected were Alexander McEwen, president; N. T. Richards, first vice-president; C. A. S. Devitt, second vice-president; and G. F. Boyd, treasurer.

Republican Leaders Name Nixon in Poll as Favorite Candidate

NEW YORK (AP)—Former vice-president Richard M. Nixon has topped a countrywide Associated Press poll of Republican leaders who were asked to name their favorite for the party presidential nomination next year.

However, the strongest potential slate would be composed by governors Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California, those participating in the survey replied. A Nixon-Reagan combination ran second.

Associated Press bureaus submitted a three-part questionnaire to the state chairmen and members of the Republican national committee in all 50 states. About half replied. The questions and results were:

1. Whom do you favor for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination?
Nixon—46 per cent
Governor George Romney—26
Rockefeller—14
Reagan—7
Others—7

2. Which Republican has the best chance of defeating President Johnson?
Nixon—41 per cent
Rockefeller—25
Romney—23
Reagan—11
3. What combination of candidates for president and vice-president would offer the strongest ticket?

Rockefeller-Reagan—40 per cent
Nixon-Reagan—23
Nixon-Senator Charles Percy—11

Romney-Reagan—11
Others—13
A significant result of the poll was Reagan's strong showing. He was mentioned many more times than any other potential candidate, as the choice for the vice-presidential nomination.

Rockefeller and Reagan have both said they are not candidates. Teaming, some of those questioned said, would give the party a balanced ticket which would appeal to both the conservatives and moderates.

2,500 JOIN IN SONG Parade of Nations Stirs Emotions At Mass Service

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Times Church Editor

A pageant of nations moved down the floodlit centre aisle of the Memorial Arena Sunday night.

Shimmering in the white light were the many-hued costumes of China, Japan, India, Norway, Holland, Sweden, Poland, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

If there is such a thing as a national costume of England, it was missing. The rest represented the settlers of Canada, and with them came a man and woman attired in the beaded buckskins of Canada's first inhabitants—the Indians.

Such was the impressive opening to a Thanksgiving Centennial service directed by Allan Purdy and produced for the Greater Victoria Centennial Society by Jerry Gosley.

2,500 Sing Out

As the stately procession entered the arena, an audience of more than 2,500 rose and joined in the singing of the hymn, Raise We Our Song.

They were led by a 200-voice choir, conducted by Rodney Webster, and accompanied by the Victoria Salvation Army Band under the direction of Larry Rowett.

The procession was headed by a color party of Rover Scouts and a guard of honor composed of Girl Guides, Boy Scouts and Venturer Scouts. Behind them came the clergy of most Victoria churches and officials of the B.C. government, the judiciary, the University of Victoria, Mayor Hugh Stephen and reeves of the municipalities.

Rich Pattern

As the dignitaries took their seats on a flag-draped platform, the Guides and Scouts and representatives of ethnic groups gathered alongside the mass choir at the far end of the arena.

Their uniforms blended with the robes of many church choirs to create a rich pattern of color.

Dr. S. J. Parsons, president of the Greater Victoria Council of Churches, opened the service with a call to worship.

Archdeacon C. E. F. Wolff of the Anglican Church offered a prayer of confession in which he said:

"We have been indifferent to the needs of others and have given little thought to those who suffer want or injustice.

Evils Tolerated

"We have framed policies in which were seeds of discord and strife; and pronounced unjust and bitter judgments on other nations.

"We have stained the life of our nation by tolerating social evils, and have exploited our fellow men."

The massed choirs, conducted by Rodney Webster, with Richard Proudman at the organ, sang the Anthem for the Centennial of Canadian Confederation (Healy Willan) and The Heavens Are Telling from Hady's Creation.

Rev. A. G. Faraday, Command Chaplain, Maritime Pacific, gave the address and Rev. A. E. Leonard of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Victoria gave the closing prayers and benediction.

Share Cultures

In his address, Mr. Faraday said:

"Canada has many complexities and a diversity of race and culture. But we can resolve these difficulties if we are united in a strong faith and a strong sense of our destiny as a nation.

"Don't let us create cultural ghettos. Let us share these God-given cultures and learn from them so that we can build a nation of strength and purpose in the century to come."

SAANICH TOLD:

'Take What You Can Pay For'

The lawyer representing the McRae family today suggested two ways Saanich can pay for the 132-acre family property.

But neither suggestion meets an offer of $300,000 made by Saanich last month following an arbitration board award of $1.2 million.

"It seems to me that if council does not have sufficient money to pay for the whole of the property—132 acres—they should take what they can pay for—100 acres—and leave the McRae family in peace on the rest," said Robert Price.

"Alternatively, they might pay the remaining $300,000 in time payments as they have done in the purchase of the Lambrick property (in Gordon Head)."

Saanich set aside about $800,000 in a ratepayer-approved capital budget two years ago for buying the McRae estate. Just over $200,000 was allowed for contingencies for this and other capital items.

Mr. Price said council is proposing to expropriate the family property at "a $300,000 less than its judicially-determined value."

"If the McRae family will not give up their property at council's price, Saanich, as an alternative, may abandon the property which they took in October, 1966."

"In so doing they would, their solicitor advises, refuse to pay the interest charges accruing on the award since the taking—some $72,000—and which is specified to be paid under Sections 478 sub-section (1) and 501 sub-section (2) of the Municipal Act."

Louis Lindholm, who has represented Saanich in the McRae matter, was not available at press time for comment.

ISN'T PAID

"It should be noted," said Mr. Price, "that the municipality has never the past year received, kept and deprived the McRae family of the rents from the (Cedar Hill) golf course and has had the use and ownership of the property (excepting only the family home which the McRaes have been permitted to use) though it has not paid a cent for it."

"Couns. Alan Newberry, Edith Gunning and Digby Keir in particular demonstrate a limited knowledge of land values when they complain of the unanimous decision of their arbitrators—appointed at their instigation—and even loss of business ethics and the rule of law when they seek to circumvent it."

Mr. Price was making his first comment since Saanich council agreed to offer $300,000 for the property at its last meeting.

Saanich wants to acquire the property as a permanent park and recreation area.

Two Fined $75 For Shoe Theft At City Store

Two men who put on new shoes and walked out of the Bay Saturday were fined $75 each in magistrate's court today.

Jocelyn Raymond, 19, of Oakbury, Ont., and Daniel Boucher, 20, of Quebec, airmen taking a course at CFB Esquimalt, pleaded guilty to theft under $50.

They went into the Bay's budget store, put on new shoes, placed their old ones in a shopping bag, and left the store. The shoes were valued at $3.87 a pair.

Infant Chokes to Death On Wood Screw From Crib

A 14-month old child choked to death Saturday on a one-inch wooden screw apparently from its crib.

Charles Patrick Dobbey, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. L. Dobbey, of 763 Goldstream, was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by ambulance where efforts of doctors failed to remove the obstruction in time.

A coroner's inquiry was conducted.

Besides his parents the child is survived by a brother and sister, William Keller and Teresa Ann; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dobbey and aunts and uncles.

Services will be conducted from Our Lady of the Rosary Church at Langford, at 10 a.m. Wednesday with Father W. J. O'Brien officiating.

Interment will be in Hatley Memorial Park. Sands Funeral Chapel of Heather is in charge of arrangements.

103-YEAR-OLD WOMAN DIES AT WEST SAANICH

Mrs. Josephine Bill, believed to be the oldest Indian resident on South Vancouver Island, died Monday at her 10403 West Saanich Road home. She was 103.

Earlier this year she received a Centennial Medal at a reception at Deep Cove.

At the time she recalled as a girl travelling by canoe to Vancouver and up the Fraser River.

She was a member of the Tseycum (Patricia Bay) Indian Band.

'Land Banks' Proposed For Future Subdivisions

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell today proposed the three levels of government combine to establish "land banks" for future subdivisions as a method of cutting housing costs.

He also advocated a system of making the subsidized land available to private consortiums who would design, build and finance huge subdivisions.

These were among the leading ideas he brought back from an international convention in Sweden and personal visits to housing projects outside Stockholm, Paris and London.

He said his visits convinced him that leaving all planning and financing of housing to public authorities would not produce answers but there were several ways in which the public sector could assist private individuals materially.

"If there is a role for the public sector to play, I would say it would be that the three government levels get together to develop land banks something like our regional parks idea," he told a press conference.

He said this would amount to the governments buying land now that obviously would be useful someday for housing development and reserving it for that purpose. Some of it could be leased out during the interval but the important thing would "be to have it at economic prices and hold it for 50 years if need be."

MISSING MAN WALKS OUT TIRED, WET

While police searched the woods at Shawanigan Lake navyman Stan Cameron, 36, of Esquimalt walked out to Port Renfrew Road this morning.

Cameron had been missing since Sunday afternoon when he took off on a deer hunt by himself.

Drying himself out at the Shawanigan home of Art Boyd, he said: "I got caught in heavy rain and thick fog and decided to light a fire and wait it out."

Cameron is an experienced hunter but did not know the area he went into this weekend.

He came out of the woods about 10:30 a.m. today at the junction of the Port Renfrew Road and Kapur Road and flagged down Bobby Gregson of Duncan who was driving to work.

RCMP had been out searching from the early hours today and were still in the woods at press time.

Cameron was soaked but otherwise was none the worse for his two nights' exposure.

City Store Hit Hard By Blaze

$150,000 Damage Feared Among Home Furnishings

Damage may run as high as $150,000 in a fire at Continental Home Supply, 841 Johnson Street, early Monday morning.

City firemen fought the fire to a standstill by 7:45, one hour after the first alarm.

Deputy fire chief Carl Coates said it appears the fire originated in the office area at the back of the store.

The fire was confined to that area, but the entire stock of furniture, electrical appliances and other home furnishings was damaged heavily by smoke and heat.

Store manager Charles Kenyon said the stock was valued between $125,000 and $150,000.

NOTHING SALVAGABLE

"It appears not one article on the main floor is salvagable," said Mr. Kenyon.

Some of the stock was stored in the Suzie-Q Billiards building behind. That stock is heavily damaged by smoke, and the floor of the billiard parlor, was damaged by water.

At press time, no estimate of the damage to the Suzie-Q premises was available, but the deputy said the floor may have to be replaced.

Officials are continuing investigations in the gutted building today, hoping to pinpoint the cause of the blaze.

The store manager said he is already looking for new premises.

"We hope to open in about two weeks," he said.

FORMOSA VIPs

Chinatown Celebration For Deputy

Celebrations in Chinatown will climax a visit to Victoria Friday of the deputy vice-president of the Republic of China, Hunan Shao-Ku, Mrs. Huang and a Formosan party.

The party, on a 10-day visit to Canada, will be greeted at Patricia Bay airport Thursday at 5:55 p.m. by Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes, Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Mrs. Bonner.

They will drive to the Empress Hotel, later attending a dinner at Government House at 8.

On Friday at 10:35 a.m. they will meet Premier Bennett and members of the cabinet at the Legislative Buildings.

After signing the Golden Book, Vice-President Huang will leave at 10:55 a.m. for the City Hall where he will be greeted by Mayor Hugh Stephen and Mrs. Stephen.

SCENIC DRIVE
The party will tour Centennial Square before leaving at 11:30 a.m. for a scenic drive and lunch at the Oak Bay Marina.

At 4:30 p.m. the party will attend a reception to be given by the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association at 636 Fisgard Street.

They will be greeted by Jack Lee, president of the association.

A guard of honor composed of the Victoria Chinatown Lions Club Drum and Bell Corps, Baton Corps and Chinese Public School children, will welcome the group in Chinatown.

At 6 p.m., they will attend a dinner at the Chinese Village Restaurant at 755 Finlayson Street, to be given by Mr. Lee.

The party will leave Victoria for Vancouver from Patricia Bay Airport at 9 p.m.

Two More Frigates To Face Scrapyard

Two more Pacific Maritime Command frigates will be en route to Japanese scrapyards later this month.

Only one of the command's seven frigates, Beacon Hill, now has an undecided future. She was de-commissioned last month and is lying in cold reserve here, stripped of weapons and equipment.

The two latest ships Japan-bound are the New Glasgow and the Sussexvale which will be picked up about Oct. 21 by the Japanese tug Daisy and taken to Osaka.

They will follow two other frigates which cleared Esquimalt harbor Monday for the last time as they headed for the Oriental scrapyards.

HUGE TUG
The 1,570-ton Antigonish and the Ste. Therese started their 20-day voyage behind the 1,800-ton Amaryllis, one of the world's largest sea-going tugs from Osaka.

Both frigates are 23 years old.

Driver Injured After Dozing

Edmond Bryans, 43, 551 Oliver Street, was treated in hospital early Sunday morning after he fell asleep driving his car.

Oak Bay police report Bryans was driving south on the 800-block Oliver when his car struck a parked car.

He was released from Royal Jubilee Hospital's emergency ward after treatment for cuts and abrasions.

Ask The Times

Q. Did Sir John A. Macdonald ever hold a seat in Victoria? J.M.

A. Yes, between 1878 and 1882. He was defeated in his home riding of Kingston and ran in Victoria where he was elected as one of the city's two members. The other was publisher Amor de Cosmos. Sir John was prime minister while he was Victoria's member but he did not come here during his tenure as MP for the area but did visit Victoria in 1886. That was the only time he was here.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Family Goblins Start Getting Ready Early

By PENNY SAVER

The younger set is starting to get ready for Halloween though it is nearly a month away. This is the time of the year when old sheets and even older clothes are pressed into service for "the night." Before the final costume is made members of the family will see a variety of ghosts, goblins and tramps appearing out of the basement and vanishing again. Plans are beginning to form for Halloween parties and secret expeditions into the night. About this time I start to feel that maybe I should begin to make some preparations of my own. I usually end up buying some candy which is forgotten until the supply for the night has run out. My mind on ghosts and goblins, I've been shopping.

If you have trouble keeping a shopping bag together in the rain or find yourself every year without bags strong enough for the family ghosts and goblins to pack their treats in you will like what I found. These bags are the size of regular shopping bags but they are built far stronger. Every one is made out of strong brown paper with a plastic covering over it. The handles are of interwoven plastic and very strong. There is a choice of many gay colors to suit every mood. I could not resist buying several of these bags, not only for our goblins but also for shopping. The cost is 31 cents each.

Winter is not here yet but I could not resist the toques I saw. Coming in bright colors and a variety of styles, there is one for every taste. If you like the unusual there is one much like the old nightcaps. It's long with a dangling tassel and is available in orange and yellow patterns. I finally chose a red and blue cap with a large pom-pom. They are made of acrylic and orlon for warmth. The price varies from $1.49 to $6.67 depending on the style.

For the card player in your house the book I found would be just the thing. It covers nearly every card game. As a bit of early Christmas shopping or a birthday present I couldn't resist taking one home. It is small enough to fit in a purse or a pocket and would be useful for taking on long trips or as a reference book for a card club. The price is a mere 49 cents.

If you would like to know where I found these items give me a call at 382-3131.

How Do You Apply Cream To Your Face and Neck?

For several days now I am going to let you peek at a few letters I have received from readers. I am sure these will fascinate you as they do me and will also bring up some questions to which many of you would like the answers. I think lots of women are puzzled by the question in the following letter.

Lowman

"Dear Mrs. Lowman, Please tell me, who are we supposed to believe? I am talking about applying cream to the face and neck. Most beauty experts say to apply it with upward strokes. However, one of the best known authorities says never to apply it this way, but always with downward strokes. Who is right?"

I am a middle-roader about the application of cream. I believe that it is much better to stir up circulation in the face and neck with exercise and resting with one's head lower than hips and feet. It is my opinion that creams should be patted on rather than stroked on

DEAR ABBY . . .

Neighbor Wants to Head Off Trouble

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor, who has three daughters, 15, 13 and 10, has me terribly upset. They seem to be a nice family, but the mother went to work recently and the girls are home alone most of the time. There are all kinds of boys flocking at this house, inside and out, running, hollering and wrestling with the girls.

The oldest is the quiet type. She stays in the house most of the time with her boy friend. I hope I am wrong, but it sure doesn't look very nice, and the neighbors are talking. Everyone seems to know but the parents. They must not even have any suspicion because they're not the type to put up with such goings-on.

Should I call them? Or should I mind my own business?

WORRIED NEIGHBOR

DEAR ABBY: You and the other neighbors could be wrong in your suspicions of the "goings on," but do unto others. If they were your daughters, wouldn't you want to be told in time to head off trouble?

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with "Past 70," who feels that every announcement or invitation is a bid for a gift. And it's too bad that many are not sent because they feel as "Past 70" feels. Sometimes they are sent just to let friends know what is "going on" in the family.

If there is no gift in my heart, or if I feel that the acquaintance isn't close enough to justify a gift, I write a personal note of good wishes. That much I can do for a total stranger.

P.S.

We Enjoy Waiting on You at the

PICCADILLY SHOPPE
1017 Gov't

And some of my nicest "thank you's" have come in response to a note I took the time to write. If they just wanted a gift, I will have politely put them in their place. And if they wanted me to know of a wedding, graduation or a new baby, I let them know that I was glad to have been informed.

KAY J. S.

DEAR KAY: You are right, of course. But you would be amazed at the number of people who find it easier to send a gift than write a personal note.

DEAR ABBY: I just finished reading the letter from the 17-year-old girl who signed herself "FAT AND LONELY." She had had only two dates in her life because she was fat. She met a popular guy at a party, but he only wanted to take advantage of her. He told her to "get wise, that any fat girl can be popular if she will just give in a little."

Abby, to think that this girl was actually considering it, makes me sick. Being "popular" is a sickness among teenagers today. That girl wouldn't become "popular" if she gave in — she would become "known." And who would want to be known for such un-Christian acts?

Somewhat, I think this girl will make the right decision. She wouldn't have asked for your help unless she knew that what she was considering was wrong. I am only 16, and I know it's wrong. I know many other things in this world that are wrong, too, but it's really a wonderful place to live if you

Couple Will Live in Winnipeg After Wedding Held at Duncan

After a honeymoon in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Alexander Keith Moir will make their home in Winnipeg.

They were married in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at Duncan on Saturday. Fall flowers decorated the church. Rev. R. MacMillan officiated and organist was Dick McEwan. The bride, Margaret Mary, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Crockett of Duncan. The groom's mother is Mrs. P. E. Hawk, 2920 Orillia Street, Victoria. The bride wore a gown of ivory antique silk as she entered the church on the arm of her father. The gown was full-length, styled on A-lines and had appliques of re-embroidered Alençon lace edging the neckline and circling the skirt and bracelet-length sleeves. A softly pleated train extended to chapel-length. A bow headpiece held her short veil of silk illusion. Red roses formed her bouquet. Miss Carol Crockett attended.

Glamorize your home with convenience

Of all the things you can do to improve your home, nothing adds so much for so little as a colored extension telephone. It saves you thousands of steps a year, gives you privacy when required, brings that glamorous modern note to any room in your house. And the cost is only a few pennies per day!

AN EXTENSION FOR YOUR TEEN-AGER can bring important fringe benefits for you, too! Teenagers being the talkative people in the world, you solve at one stroke the problem of having to listen to them endlessly. Also, teenagers save you a lot of steps by answering the phone automatically, every single time it rings. A well-mannered teen is almost as good as having a butler to take your calls!

BUSY MOTHERS, BABIES AND KITCHENS go together naturally with a Speakerphone extension. At the flick of a switch your hands become free again—you listen over the compact loudspeaker and talk back over the sensitive microphone. Meanwhile, carry on giving Junior his formula, preparing the dinner or mixing the cake. In fact, the Speakerphone makes kitchen calls a piece of cake every time!

HOBBY SHOP PROJECTS are a demanding and often intricate affair which should never, NEVER be interrupted! No more rushing upstairs or into another room when the phone rings. ## Dairy foods go with good living Think cheese when you're in a hurry! Grated, shredded, sliced or cubed, this dairy food sparks a host of quick meal beginnings and endings. Now that October Cheese Festival is in full swing, try these new tricks. While dinner cooks that last few minutes, serve hot cheese nibblers. These Cheddar Poppy Puffs can be fixed in minutes from refrigerated biscuits and nippy "old" Canadian Cheddar cheese.

18-ounce can refrigerated biscuits
¾ cup grated Cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon poppy seeds
1 egg, well beaten

Flatten each biscuit slightly. Cut into quarters. Combine cheese and poppy seeds. Roll biscuit pieces in egg, then in cheese mixture. Place on buttered cookie sheet and bake at 400°F 10 to 12 mins. Serve warm. (Makes approx. 2½ doz.)

Another time try broiling cheese on wedges of crisp toast. Just moisten shredded Cheddar with a tablespoon or two of dairy sour cream. Add crumbled crisply cooked bacon for crunch and a few snips of chives or green onion. Spread over toast and broil until bubbly.

For a gourmet ending, see what cream cheese does for fall desserts. To complement fruit pies, beat ¼ cup dairy sour cream into an 8-ounce package cream cheese and flavor with ¼ teaspoon vanilla and a tablespoon sugar.

Dress up warm gingerbread by whipping ¼ cup granulated sugar and 1 tablespoon orange juice into an 8-ounce package cream cheese. Top gingerbread with apple sauce, cheese and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

TEAM TO TOUR RHODESIA

By CARL MOLLINS

LONDON (CP) — British rugger has joined a royal racehorse as popular symbols of disenchantment with official attempts to freeze Rhodesia's white-minority regime out of office.

Rugby Union authorities shrugged off government objections and announced Monday the British Lions will compete in Rhodesia next summer.

The union's open defiance drew public attention to the failure of British-led sanctions against Rhodesia at a time when pressure is building for an end to the whole operation.

Less than a week ago, a report that a racehorse once owned by the Queen had found its way into Rhodesia embarrassed the British government. At the same time, a London television program showed how easily businessmen, including Britons, flout the economic boycott imposed after Ian Smith declared Rhodesia's independence of Britain 23 months ago.

British Lions, a select team from the United Kingdom, is scheduled to play in Bulawayo during a tour otherwise confined to South Africa. Rugby officials said the Rhodesian visit is a traditional part of South African tours.

Last month, Yorkshire County Cricket Club declined a Rhodesian invitation to visit and said the refusal was made under pressure from the British government. Oldham soccer club quietly visited Rhodesia last summer without attracting much attention.

The Rugby Union's disregard of the Labor government's pressure followed a weekend speech by Conservative party Leader Edward Heath calling for direct talks with Smith to end the Rhodesian stalemate. Heath's proposal was denounced in public speeches Monday by Labor and Liberal members of Parliament.

However, reports from Rhodesia published here say political and commercial groups with strong connections in Britain are campaigning for a British settlement with Smith before the end of the year.

When Skin Sags on Face and Neck

Even skin that sags and is no longer smooth, could be made firm and much younger looking. That "older look" usually appears first around the throat, but is comparatively easy to treat by very simple means that require no skill at all.

Get 2nd Debut with CEF 600 or CEF 1200 in double strength from your drug or dept. store and apply it daily to your throat and face each night before retiring. After just a few days, you will notice your skin becoming firmer again and smoother. That is because the 2nd Debut has revitalized your skin with a new supply of water from the surface clear into the inner skin.

ABOUT CANADA

States Could Care Less, Probably Will

OTTAWA (CP) — John W. Holmes, director-general of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, says the U.S. cares less and less what Canada does because of a declining interest in Canadian territory for defence in a missile age.

"This trend is unlikely to strengthen our bargaining power in Washington, but it leaves us free to follow our own course," he writes in the October issue of Foreign Affairs, an American publication.

"American independence of Canada encourages Canadian independence of the U.S."

Mr. Holmes, assistant deputy minister of external affairs from 1953 to 1960, says "the language of the 1950s fits the Canada-U.S. relationship little better than it fits that between the U.S. and its European associates."

But he concludes: "We are all less likely to pay lip service to solidarity, but in practice it is doubtful if we can escape, or really want to escape, from the habits of consultation, the recognition of mutual interests, the restraint in our disputations which we work out in forms that defy neat definition but represent a basic need to hang together in a highly uncertain world."

Mr. Holmes says Canada has a defence policy "not because it is required but

Many Seek AA Help Earlier—Spokesman

A... tend meeting here of Alcoholics Anonymous concluded Monday with a Thanksgiving party for members and wives at William Head minimum security prison.

Alcoholics believe many men are in prison because of alcoholism.

More than 200 AAs from Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster and Seattle attended a rally in the Ingraham Hotel.

A spokesman said there are now 250 active AA members in Victoria.

"We are all alcoholics," he said. "If we took one drink we would be on the way back to total alcoholism. That is why we have banded together to help each other to fight off drink."

SEEK HELP

The spokesman said many AAs seem willing to admit their alcoholism problems in the earlier stages.

"At one time, the people who spoke at our meetings had spent time in prisons, hospitals and on skid roads. They told of losing jobs, families and homes."

"Now it seems they are willing to admit they are alcoholics before they reach rock bottom. They realize they have the disease and know it will lead to disaster."

"So they seek counselling earlier."

The AAs and their wives attended a dinner-dance in the Ingraham Hotel Saturday night and a breakfast meeting Sunday morning.

Reg' Clarkson of the Alcoholism Foundation of British Columbia was guest speaker at a public meeting Sunday afternoon.

Highland Dancers With Famed Pageant

Welsh, Scots Guards to Set Arena A-Piping Oct. 23

When the massed bands, pipers, drummers and Highland dancers of Queen Elizabeth's Welsh and Scots Guards bring their military pageant to Memorial Arena on Monday, Oct. 23, all eyes and, certainly, ears will pick the contingent of Scots Guard Pipers as a special highlight of the occasion. There is something about the wild, shrill and mournful sound of the bagpipe that brings a thrill to the least of Scottish men.

The bagpipe, or Piob mhor, as it is known in Gaelic, has been a musical instrument of war for centuries. Many a clan in Scotland has been launched into battle to the skirl of the pipes. It is therefore fitting that Scottish regiments should retain their pipes; and today the pipers of the Scots Guards are an important and integral part of the regiment.

Although it is certain that the regiment had pipers from its formation in 1642 there is no definite reference to them until 1670. In that year we find Sir James Turner, an officer in the Scots Guards, writing in his book "Pallas Armata," "With us, any captain may keep a piper in his company and maintain him, too, for no pay is allowed him, perhaps just as much as he deserves."

In 1704 the regiment raised a company to quell unrest in the Highlands, and for the first time the establishment included a "pyper" per company.

In 1712 after the regiment went to England and became known as the Third Guards the decline of the pipers set in, and perhaps this was inevitable as many English officers were recruited and Scotland was not visited again until 1811. However, the pipers were not entirely eclipsed and in 1830 when William IV restored the Scottish title of Scots Fusilier Guards to the regiment the recruiting parties in Scotland all had pipers.

The first pipe major, Sergeant Ewan Henderson, was appointed privately by the First Battalion of the regiment in 1853. This rank received official recognition in 1856 when each battalion was authorized to hold one pipe major and five pipers.

Since then the pipers have been firmly established. Until mid-1915 they played the regiment into battle, but so many pipers were killed or wounded in the First World War that the practice was stopped. Nowadays the pipers combine their duties with that of first aid and stretcher bearing. They have already established a great reputation for bravery in the performance of these duties during the two world wars.

German Playwright Boomed At Churchill-Play Opening

BERLIN (Reuters)—West German playwright Rolf Hochhuth was boomed Monday night after the world-premiere of his controversial play The Soldiers, which dramatizes Winston Churchill's part in ordering the bombing of German cities during the Second World War.

The audience of more than 1,000 at the Freie Volksbuehne Theatre enthusiastically applauded the actors at the end of the three-hour play.

But when Hochhuth appeared in front of the curtain he was booed, although there were scattered shouts of bravo.

Before the performance the 39-year-old playwright told a conference of 200 critics and reporters the play would imply that the British prime minister ordered the murder of Polish Gen. Vladislav Sikorski.

The play shows Churchill as being embarrassed by a demand by Gen. Sikorski that Britain get assurances from Russia that Poland's pre-war boundaries be re-established.

Hochhuth has argued that Churchill had to prove to Russia that her enemies were his enemies.

In an article in the German news magazine Der Spiegel, Hochhuth suggests that if the removal of Sikorski was necessary to keep the alliance with Russia intact, then the sabotage of Sikorski's aircraft could be justified.

The bodies of British secret servicemen flying with Sikorski were never recovered, suggesting that they left the plane at the last moment before the takeoff, Hochhuth said.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

The city of Victoria received the regal color film treatment the other night. It took the combined talents of author-journalist Bruce Hutchison, producer-director Don Eccleston and photographer John Seale to showcase this city.

Hutchison wrote the script which displayed Victoria as the gracious city it is with its historic buildings, magnificent homes, gardens, and parks but in step with the times through the influence of the young Canadian-born residents.

The color scenes showed off the city to its best advantage. The shoreline of Beacon Hill Park, Government Street in the early morning hours, Bastion Square, Ross Bay Cemetery telling their own stories.

Also telling was the crass commercialism of hucksters bothering tourists along the Causeway. This has been a source of irritation for many years but never more evident than in this film.

The CBC half-hour was a blend of past and present woven deftly by master craftsmen. A tribute to the city, revealing yet not hating.

The stuff daytime television is made of, with a few exceptions, is best suited for the trash can.

Take ABC's Dream Girl for an example. The program pits girls against each other, showing off their limited talent and vacuous thoughts.

Their so-called performances are left for well-known celebrities to judge. Last Friday, Fernando Lamas, Cesar Romero and Ray Walston were in that position.

They looked positively embarrassed by it all. As for emcee-host Paul Peterson, let's remember him for his performances as the son on the long-running Donna Reed Show. It would be kinder that way.

WELL DONE, good and faithful servant, said the Master in St. Matthew's parable of the talents. Church members (left to right) Fergus Reid, Russell Kerr and C. H. Parnell brought the same message to Rev. Howard McDiarmid at Resthaven Hospital Sunday after the Sidney United Church minister proved the truth in the parable again. Over $4,000 has been realized so far on the $1,000 in $10 bills Rev. McDiarmid handed out to his congregation last April with instructions to be fruitful and multiply. The minister is in hospital with a broken leg.

$3,000 Dividend for Church On the Day of Reckoning

By DON VIPOND

Rev. Howard McDiarmid stood at the door of his church last April and handed out $10 bills to his congregation.

The message with the money came straight from St. Matthew's parable of the talents—be fruitful and multiply.

The 33-year-old minister of St. Paul's United Church in Sidney and St. John's in Deep Cove handed out $1,000 to his congregations.

Thanksgiving Sunday was the day of reckoning.

Like the servants from the parable church members brought back their $10 plus whatever interest they had been able to earn.

Over $4,000 has rolled in so far and there's more to come.

The parable from Matthew 25, verses 14-30, tells the story of a master who entrusted his money to three servants.

Two of the servants doubled the money and were well rewarded while the third buried his talent and made nothing of it, drawing a blast from his master.

"For unto everyone that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance; but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath."

"And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth."

Mr. McDiarmid interprets the story this way:

"If you have an ability, a talent or creative skill there's a moral obligation to develop it. If you don't, you'll lose it."

His congregation showed considerable talent in making their $10 bills multiply.

One family operated a four-hour tourist cruise through the Gulf Islands last summer in their boat. This produced $100.

A girl used her money to paint a portrait for which she was offered $100.

One lady used her $10 to bake and sell bread. Another meat pie. A third made and sold costume jewelry to tourists.

One man in the congregation returned $300 for his $10 loan.

Church members went to the bank this morning to pay off the $1,000 loan which started the whole business.

The rest of the money will be devoted to paying for the church hall at St. Paul's, contributing to the United Church's foreign mission and to other needy organizations.

There's little chance Mr. McDiarmid's congregation is going to rest on its laurels.

"We'd like to see the congregation give a practical re-enactment of some other parables," he said this morning. He doesn't have a particular one in mind at the moment.

Not even a broken leg he sustained 10 days ago when he tripped on a curb has dulled the pleasure from the parable payoff.

"I think the congregation derived a great deal from it, much more than the financial goal which had been set."

Cowichan Coho for Royal Larder

By DON DINGWALL

COWICHAN BAY — Fishermen in the Cowichan Bay salmon derby at the weekend were in royal company.

Crown Prince Harald of Norway was there.

He spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday in the bay as a guest aboard lumber magnate

H. R. MacMillan's private

yacht "Mari Jean."

Prince Harald fished each day and landed five coho, but didn't weigh in any of them for the annual contest. Included were an 11 and 10-pounder.

His fishing guides were Gordie Williams, Dolf Holman and John Stavrakov.

Prince Harald also went duck-hunting on the Cowichan bay flats Sunday evening with Gordie Price.

Twelve ducks were added to the royal larder.

Prince Harald, who left for home Monday night, was a hit with the locals.

Mr. Price said: "He's a very nice chap, just a regular

Joe."

The "prince" of the local fishermen was Doug Thorarinson, 17 of Duncan.

He won the grand prize of a 14-foot boat and outboard

motor for weighing in the heaviest coho, 13 lbs. 8 1/2

ounces.

Two $100 prizes went to

Mrs. Leslie Caunt of Duncan who landed a 13 lb. 2 1/2 ounce, and Glen Spinks of Cowichan Bay, 12 lb. 7 oz.

TOFINO HIGHWAY REMAINS OPEN

TOFINO — Highway from here to Alberni is still open to traffic despite heavy rains which caused flooding and subsequent temporary closure on the weekend.

Police say the road is pot-holed and in rough condition.

More than eight inches of rain has fallen in the Tofino area in the past week and a record of 5.29 inches fell in the 24-hour period ending at 4 a.m. Saturday.

Kennedy Lake rose eight feet above normal and in places the road was under a foot of water.

The Wonderful World of Animals

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: We plan on hunting with our Setter and know a rabies shot is necessary. But a friend has us worried because he claims the rabies shot affects a dog's sense of smell. Is there any evidence this is actually true? — L.C.

DEAR L.C.: No. While your dog's nose may be out of joint for a few moments following the injection, even this degree of reaction is comparatively rare.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I love birds but, strangely, I love cats, too. So I broke my heart when I found a cat that had strangled itself in some brush near my house. His collar had become caught on a branch and the poor cat had apparently strangled in his frantic attempts to free himself. Some well-meaning soul had put a bell on the collar to protect the birds. How sad the cat had to perish this way. Isn't there some way to protect both birds and cats? — L.U.

DEAR L.U.: The only type of cat collar that should ever be used is one that has some provision for stretching over the head or, preferably, for breaking away completely. In fact, there aren't too many good reasons for using a cat collar at all, though a birdie bell may be of some help in giving the feathered flock a fighting chance.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Is it

Artificial Skin to Aid Fire Victims

CHICAGO (Reuters)—An artificial skin that looks and feels like the real thing has been developed which will cut the mortality rate of persons with severe burns, the American College of Surgeons convention was told last week.

The "skin," which feels like velvet, can be worn four years if necessary, to cover areas of the body that have suffered serious burns.

It is made of three layers—similar to human skin—with an outer resilient layer of nylon velour, a middle layer of silicone to prevent water loss and an inner layer of fine nylon velour loop which holds it to the body.

Dr. Donald T. Bressler, a Tufts University Medical School surgeon, reporting the development, said the skin would be used to cover body areas that eventually would be capable of taking transplanted human skin.

The artificial skin would permit burned victims to use their hands quickly.

ever possible to get scorpions to eat anything but insects? I'm having trouble finding live food for mine now. Also, do they need water? By the way, this summer I found the easiest way to capture scorpions is to grab them, quick, by the tail. When you do this, they are helpless. —T. McA.

DEAR T. McA.: Scorpions will frequently accept adult and larval mealworms. They will also take a sliver of raw meat if it is dragged slowly about within their vision. Water isn't needed — for drinking purposes, or otherwise. Now, about this tip of yours: True, a scorpion is helpless once it is hoisted off the ground by its tail, but if the grabber happens to be a little slower than the scorpion, he's going to get stung (by that tail) in the process. Since scorpions (especially Centruroides sculpturatus) are highly poisonous to man, anyone bent on adopting a scorpion as a pet should utilize a "hands off" policy — even when effecting its capture.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I had a pretty bad problem with my pet crickets. They ate each other! Can you tell me if this is common and why they did this? I want to have some more some time, but I don't want this to happen again! —B.B.

DEAR B.B.: Cannibalistic crickets can be kept from consuming each other if plenty of food is available. As with most species, mayhem among crickets is less likely when their bellies are full.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Our dog has a very severe skin condition that is controlled with cortisone tablets given daily. The trouble is, he starts puffing up after awhile and we have to take him off the pills. Then we put him back on them again, but by that time he's already digging and scratching himself. Is there any way he could be kept on cortisone all the time? —L.A.

DEAR L.A.: Cortisone is a potent drug, and undesirable changes may occur within the body from its long, continued use. Fluid retention and consequent swelling is one of the more obvious signs of overdosage or intolerance. Your veterinarian's instructions regarding use of this drug should be followed to the letter; he alone can accurately determine permissible drug levels and duration.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other interesting prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to George Dangler, age 10, of Whiteboro, New York, for his question:

The charcoal season will soon be over for most of us. It is the season of barbecues and outdoor cookouts. We use neat little lumps and chunks of sooty black charcoal to make these outdoor fires. The fires are hot enough for cooking, but they give off no smoky fumes. Nobody knows who discovered how to make it, but our ancestors used charcoal ages before they learned how to burn coal. Wood was most likely the first fuel used to make fires. And charcoal can be made from charred wood. Perhaps someone discovered how to make it by accident. And most likely many different people made the same discovery at different times in different parts of the world. But when they learned how to do it, they never forgot. For charcoal is very useful.

The basic ingredient must be animal or vegetable material. The finished product is this organic material in a partly burned condition. The trick is to know how to burn them just enough without burning them to ashes. Nowadays, every young scientist knows that fire feeds on oxygen and oxygen gas is present in ordinary air. The old-timers who discovered how to make charcoal did not know this. But they did know that a draft of air makes a fire burn faster. And also that when the air is shut out, a fire slows down.

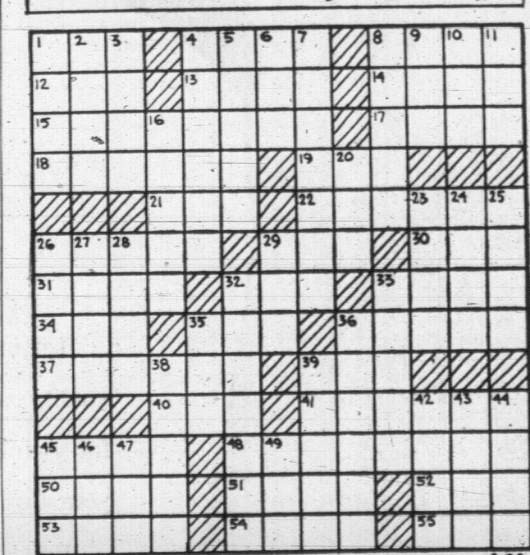

Most of our charcoal is made from slowly burned wood. The best ingredient to use is chips and small bits of hardwood. A special container is needed to keep the fire going. The fire will go out if it has no air at all. So there must be a few small holes in the container to let in just enough air to keep it going. I needs more air to get started, so the container needs a lid or door. When the wood is ablaze, the door or lid is closed and the fire is left to take its time.

Soaks up Gas

It may burn gently for days. But it must be inspected from time to time. At last the wood turns into sooty black charcoal. If we leave it burning any longer the charcoal will burn to powdery white ashes. The charred wood must be taken out of its container at the right time. It may need sifting to remove the sooty black lumps from the powdery crumbs. Nowadays, charcoal makers often bash all the lumps to powder, mix in water and pour the mixture into neat little molds. When they dry, they become neat little blocks of charcoal for outdoor cooking. They are slow to burn but the glowing bricks get very hot and a charcoal fire gives off no flames or smoky fumes.

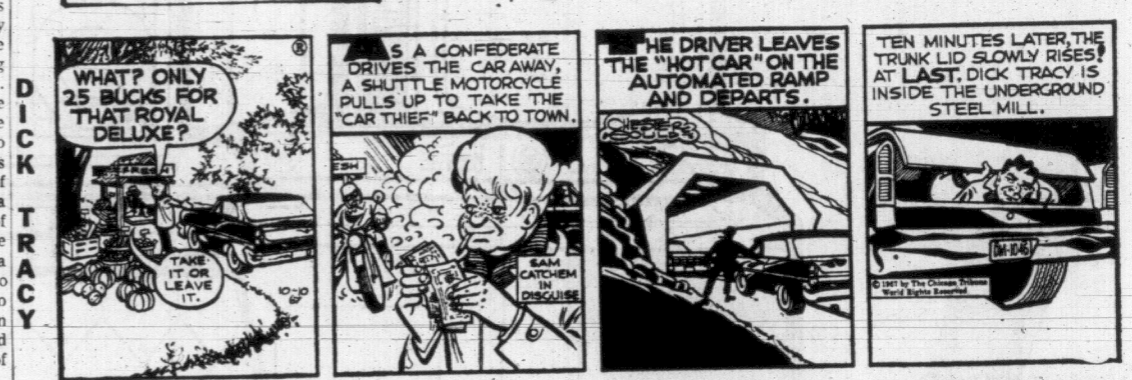

Boneblack is charcoal made by burning the bones of animals. It is used to filter impurities from sugary syrups. Lampblack is made by burning

INJUNCTION TRY NEXT IN TRANSIT STRIKE?

QUEBEC (CP)—Acting Premier Paul Dozois has called an emergency session of the provincial cabinet for today to deal with the strike by 6,000 Montreal bus and subway workers.

Sources close to the government said the cabinet was thinking in terms of a court injunction rather than special legislation to end the strike against the Montreal Transportation Commission that began September 21.

The government's action followed rejection Monday night by the five unions represented by the Confederation of National Trade Unions of its proposal for an immediate resumption of work pending compulsory arbitration.

The government said the strike had reached a critical stage and must be brought to an end.

Guevara Slain In Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Bolivia today officially announced the death of Ernesto (Che) Guevara, revolutionary and former righthand man of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, in a battle with United States-trained Bolivian rangers.

A communique from the Bolivian armed forces said Guevara was one of seven guerrillas shot and killed in the clash Sunday at Higuera, between Alto Seco and Vallegrande in southeast Bolivia.

Four of the guerrillas slain were of Cuban nationality, the official statement reported.

The statement was the first official confirmation of Guevara's death, rumored since news of the Higuera clash was first made public.

The communique said the rangers captured Guevara's personal diary as well as a band.

Wet Expo Crowd Boos Margaret, Snowdon

MONTREAL (CP) — Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon were booed and shouted at by an irate crowd of Expo 67 visitors Monday.

The incident flared at the pavilion of Czechoslovakia on Notre Dame Island, where hundreds of visitors who had stood in a miserable driving drizzle for up to three hours waiting to see the pavilion reacted to the news that it was being closed for the duration of her visit.

The royal couple swept into the pavilion in the centre of a tight ring of plainclothes RCMP men and gave no indication that they had heard the loud booing. An attendant at the pavilion door said the showplace had been closed to the public 20 minutes before the royal arrival to ensure them an uncrowded tour.

Neither France nor Mexico, pavilions she had just finished touring, closed its doors to the public during the visit.

It was at least the third time personalities had been booed at the Czech pavilion for causing a temporary closure.

Last Friday evening Jacqueline Kennedy, widow of President Kennedy, was booed as she arrived after causing the lineup to wait for 1½ hours in biting cold.

Recently the Shah of Iran got the same treatment when his tour closed the pavilion.

Harshest comments on the Monday close-down came from the 50 or so persons at the head of the lineup who could see the reason for the delay.

"Why weren't we told?" screamed Mrs. S. T. Abbott who would only say she came from Louisiana. She had been waiting three hours to get in.

"It's an absolutely disgusting situation," said Simon Fraser, of Dundee, Scotland. "The least they could have said was that we would have to wait for another half-hour."

"We wouldn't mind so much if someone had warned us that she was coming," said Hulda Blaufus of Seattle, Wash. "I've only got two days at Expo and one has practically been spent here."

Added Mrs. Abbott "We've got nothing against the princess but we can't understand why we can't tour the pavilion during her unofficial visit."

Earlier, the royal couple were serenaded by the Mariachis, a guitar band at the Mexican pavilion, as they left their trackless trailer-train, La Balade, to enter the pavilion.

The band followed them around the pavilion, playing and singing.

SOVIET

Defence Budget Boosted

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Kremlin today announced a 15-per-cent increase in Russian defence spending for 1968 because of international tension and the need to boost aid to other countries.

Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov told the Supreme Soviet, Russia's Parliament, that defence expenditures would rise to 16,700,000,000 rubles ($18,700,000,000) in 1968 from 14,500,000,000 rubles ($16,200,000,000) this year.

The 1966-67 U.S. defence budget was $67,000,000,000 and President Johnson has asked a $72,300,000,000 defence allotment for the 1967-68 fiscal year. Although Moscow recently signed a new aid agreement under which it would send North Vietnam more rockets, planes and other equipment, Garbuzov did not single out Hanoi as a recipient of military aid.

But, explaining the allocation of 13.5 per cent of the total budget to defence, Garbuzov said "international tension calls for greater attention to the strengthening of the defence potential."

LARGEST IN A YEAR

The increase, largest boost to military spending in one year by the Kremlin, was made necessary by the need to increase assistance to other countries, the finance minister said.

He was speaking to a joint session of the two houses of the Supreme Soviet.

In addition to the budget, the 1,517 delegates were expected to give assent to a state plan for 1968 and a bill on military service believed to reduce the period served to two from three years.

The total budget for 1968 provided for revenue of 123,800,000,000 rubles ($138,600,000) — or an increase of 8.3 per cent compared with this year. Expenditure during 1968 will total 123,500,000,000 rubles ($138,300,000,000).

The defence increase was only 0.3 per cent as a total of the overall budget. Defence expenditures were increased for 1967 by 0.4 per cent in 1966.

INCOME HIGHER

Garbuzov also announced that income for 1967 would be 115,000,000,000 rubles ($128,800,000,000) or four per cent more than envisaged in the 1967 budget approved by the Supreme Soviet in December.

Expenditure also was higher than originally budgeted for, reaching 114,000,000,000 rubles ($127,700,000,000) instead of 109,900,000,000 rubles ($123,088,000,000).

The increase in defence spending was disclosed in budget figures which Western experts believe hide other military spending.

The 1968 total announced today of 16,700,000,000 rubles represents perhaps half of the expected Soviet military expenditure for next year, on the basis of Western analyses of Soviet budgetary practice.

CASTELLANI GIRL HURT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jeanine Castellani, 13, daughter of a man sentenced to be hanged Jan. 23 for the arsenic poisoning of his wife, was in only fair condition in a hospital today.

The girl, a key witness at her father's trial, was hit by a police car chasing a traffic violator Saturday on a rain-slicked street. She suffered a broken arm, a broken leg and face cuts when she was thrown 35 feet by the impact.

Two companions with the girl were not hit. Rene Castellani was convicted last week by a Supreme Court jury on a capital murder charge.

Monument To Pro-Nazi Unveiled

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI)—Premier John Vorster unveiled a monument today to a leader of a pro-Nazi organization who led a militant struggle against South Africa's participation in the Second World War on the side of the Allies.

It was one of Vorster's most controversial actions since becoming premier 13 months ago.

The monument honoring the late Dr. Hans van Rensburg, commandant general of the Ossewa Brandwag (Oxwagon Sentinal) organization, stands in a cemetery in Lyttelton near Pretoria.

Van Rensburg was administrator (governor) of Cape and Orange Free State provinces and an outspoken admirer of Hitler. He gave up public life to lead the militant struggle against South Africa's participation in the war on the side of the Allies.

WIRE BRIEFS

QUEBEC (CP) — Creditistes have launched a campaign to present a common front in federal politics with the Social Credit party—based on Social Credit ideas.

The two-day convention of the Creditiste party, which broke away from the Social Credit party a few years ago, formed plans during the weekend for a meeting in Ottawa Nov. 4-5 of Social Credit and Creditiste members of Parliament.

The convention agreed to push for acceptance of Social Credit policies in all 10 provinces regardless of whether the Quebec-based Creditistes are reunited with Social Credit.

Real Caouette, Creditiste party leader, told the 550 delegates that "if the four members from the West do not wish to unite, we will go over their heads."

Creditistes now have eight members in the 265-seat Commons with the Social Credit members comprising half that total.

OTTAWA GATHERING — The delegates chose Raymond Langlois, MP for Megantic, and Ronald Sibbald, deputy leader of the Social Credit party in Ontario, to arrange for the Ottawa gathering of both groups.

Mr. Langlois said Creditistes may present candidates in Western Canada now represented by Social Credit members in the next federal election if the Social Credit members do not come to terms with it.

However, both Mr. Caouette and Mr. Langlois said they are confident that the November meeting will result in a reunion of the two groups at the national convention in mid-April.

Mr. Langlois said a tour of Ontario and the Western provinces in September, 1966, showed that Social Credit associations in those parts of Canada solidly backed Mr. Caouette.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia was "100 per cent" behind the Creditiste leader, Mr. Langlois added.

The delegates agreed that a national leader of a reunited party should be chosen at the mid-April convention planned for either Toronto or Ottawa.

No Time To Launch Lifeboats

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Ships and planes converged on a spot in the North Pacific today where 42 crew members jumped from a sinking freighter.

The U.S. Coast Guard said the crew of the Panosceanic Faith leaped into the water as the 459-foot vessel sank shortly before dark Monday about 870 miles southwest of Kodiak, Alaska.

One of five merchant vessels which sped to the rescue, the Japanese freighter Igaharu Maru, radioed "some bodies" had been picked up and "two men were reported to be alive."

The survivors were identified as Gordon Campbell and Lewis E. Gray. Addresses were unavailable.

In New York, the ship's owners reported the master of the vessel, Capt. John F. Ogles of Alexandria, Va., had also been picked up.

Military planes which flew to the scene just after radio calls for assistance were received from the stricken vessel dropped rubber life rafts to crew members bobbing in life jackets and the pilot of a navy plane reported he saw several men climb into them.

Bandits Get $20,000 From Hotel

TORONTO (CP) — Three armed and masked bandits escaped with $20,000 from a fifth-floor office of the downtown Westbury Hotel today.

Police said the men — one armed with a shotgun, the others carrying pistols — burst into the auditing office and ordered four employees to hand over the money.

A week ago two masked bandits smashed their way into the cash office at the T. Eaton Co. in the Yorkdale shopping plaza and escaped with $85,000. Police said there is a similarity between today's robbery and the Yorkdale holdup.

Drapeau Bids To Continue Montreal Fair

MONTREAL (CP)—A permanent exhibition called Man and His World may follow on the heels of Expo's demise Oct. 29.

BOURGAULT
... warns suburb

MONTREAL (CP)—A permanent exhibition called Man and His World may follow on the heels of Expo's demise Oct. 29.

Mayor Jean Drapeau announced at a city hall press conference Monday that he has "high hopes" an agreement to this effect will be worked out in negotiations between Ottawa and Quebec before the end of the month.

The permanent exhibition, which would include the 40 pavilions so far donated to the City of Montreal, would be open six months of the year to an estimated 20,000,000 annual visitors, Mr. Drapeau said.

Under the rules of the International Bureau of Exhibitions, the Paris-based body under which official world's fairs are established, Expo must be terminated when its six-month term is up, and demolished after a specified time.

WON'T BURDEN HOST

Referring to the official regulations, Mr. Drapeau said that the demolition rule is widely misunderstood. Its purpose was to ensure that the host city was not made financially responsible for clearing the site, but it did not mean that buildings set up by participants and given to the city had to be destroyed.

The mayor expressed the hope that the federal government and the province would participate in the new public corporation which would have to be established to run Man and His World after the Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition had finished its work.

The federal government is responsible for 50 per cent of the capital expenditure on Expo 67. The provincial government provided 37 1/2 per cent and the city of Montreal 12 1/2 per cent.

Mr. Drapeau said there is no reason to expect that the corporation which now administers Expo will not bequeath its theme Man and His World to the new public corporation, along with other assets.

Some of the pavilions donated to the city will come complete with exhibits. Others would be partially filled, and still others completely empty.

ZOO IN THE DOME

Mr. Drapeau mentioned "fascinating presentations" already in mind to fill the empty buildings, among them a zoo and botanical gardens which would fill the United States geodesic dome.

Paul Dozois, Quebec finance minister and acting premier in the absence of Premier Daniel Johnson, said last week that the initiative in any decision about the future of the Expo site lay with the federal government but that any decision would have to have the approval and agreement of the government of Quebec and the City of Montreal.

Mr. Drapeau, at his press conference, seemed confident that his ideas on the future of the Expo site would be accepted by the federal and provincial governments.

He emphasized that his project for a continuing exhibition would maintain the same "spiritual level" of Expo and would pose no competition to existing Canadian annual fairs such as the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto and the Calgary Stampede.

Marijuana-Using Teacher Hears Judgment —AP Wirephoto

Used Marijuana 18 Years, Principal Loses Her Job

By STEPHEN COOK

NICASIO, Calif. (AP)—Residents of this tiny village Monday night fired their veteran primary school teacher-principal because she had said openly she had smoked marijuana for 18 years.

Mrs. Garnet E. Brennan, 58, had broken the law, they said. She said she would appeal.

The three-man school board in this hamlet 35 miles northwest of San Francisco voted unanimously "to continue dismissal on the basis that California law requires that all students be taught the basic principles of good citizenship, and that primary among the attributes of good citizenship is respect for the law."

Sale or possession of marijuana is a felony in California.

TAUGHT 35 YEARS

Board Chairman Wilfred LaFranchi said Mrs. Brennan, a veteran of 30 years teaching—five in this school of 47 pupils—had been dismissed for "immoral conduct." He said the phrase was unfortunate but that the California education code required it.

"For a teacher to repeatedly violate a law of the state constitutes immoral conduct, in our view," he said.

The board took no action on the case of Mrs. Brennan's assistant teacher, Jeff Pflugh, 25, who like Mrs. Brennan had signed an affidavit last Friday supporting the use of marijuana, although he said he doesn't use it himself.

The board decided there was no admission of immoral conduct in Pflugh's case.

The two teachers were among 46 individuals who signed affidavits filed in San Francisco Superior Court by lawyer Molly Minudri, asking an arrested judgment in the case of Melkin Melkorian, a mechanic convicted of "aiding and abetting the sale of marijuana."

Mrs. Brennan said she had used marijuana regularly for 18 years but never during school hours.

She said it wasn't habit forming and that she would use no more until it is legal to do so.

Indians Define 'Red Power'

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP)—A resolution passed by the Canadian Indian Youth Council which seeks communication with Indians in other countries is evidence of the "red power" movement among members of the race, Maxine Thomas of Brentwood Bay, B.C., said Monday.

She said, in an interview at the end of the council's annual congress:

"When we have the backing of these people that is red power. We have to think of ourselves more as North Americans, not as Canadians or Americans or Mexicans."

Concept of red power were expected to be widely discussed during the three-day council meeting but it was reviewed in closed sessions and a formal resolution dealing with it did not reach the convention floor.

One delegate said: "I think we are, all generally agreed on the meaning of red power... and there is no need to define the CYC position."

Most delegates indicated red power could be interpreted as a movement, particularly among young people, to organize themselves to an extent where government and society will listen to them.

They said, however, the concept among Canadian Indians is not militant in nature.

Duke Redbird of Toronto said red power could be termed as something relative to the aspirations of the Indian people.

Delegates attending the council meeting agreed to give priority to increase its membership and raise funds to strengthen its position as the voice of Indian youth.

The three-year-old organization has a $7,000 deficit which Miss Thomas said it hopes to wipe out in the next year. Several new sources of revenue will be explored.

Speaking at a press conference following Alberta Day celebrations at Expo 67, he said: "I am against special status for any province. I am also against the melting-pot concept. Each area has its differences, and these should be fostered and preserved."

"When one province says 'we want something beyond this' it tends to disunity."

While not completely in favor of the present Canadian constitution, he called the possibility of Canada adopting a new constitution in the foreseeable future "wishful thinking."

ter as we come to concentrate more on the affairs and future of Europe.

"I am not suggesting that there is any great break in our relations with the United States. We have a great deal in common with them."

But in the future, Lord Chalfont said, there will be less a special relationship between the U.S. and Britain and more of a relationship between the U.S. and Europe—"of which Britain is going to be a member sooner or later."

Separatists Back School For French

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—Pierre Bourgault, re-elected president of le Rassemblement pour l'indépendance nationale, issued a warning to the citizens of Pierrefonds, a Montreal suburb, Monday at the conclusion of the separatist party's annual meeting.

Mr. Bourgault, speaking to about 1,000 delegates who attended the two-day meetings, said the RIN will organize an all-out demonstration in Pierrefonds if a referendum, scheduled to be held next Friday, interferes with the construction of a school for French-speaking students in an English-speaking section of the city.

He said the situation in Pierrefonds is "intolerable and scandalous."

The RIN has been involved in a dispute for more than a month over the construction of a French-language school in Pierrefonds, a predominantly English-language city.

"We have set up a truce to give the citizens a chance to react and we have decided that the whole party will engage in the battle if the problem is not solved following the referendum," Mr. Bourgault said.

"If they're going to, once again, reduce French-Canadians to second-class citizens, in the two or three days following the referendum, we will all be in Pierrefonds."

CHEER DE GAULLE

Most of the members attending the two-day meeting boomed each other consistently throughout the weekend but went home laughing at French-Canadian MPs in Ottawa and cheering French President de Gaulle.

The separatists split with boos over the conference's central issue—proposed fusion with le Rassemblement National, Quebec's No. 2 separatist party.

But they united to laugh at skits mocking federal politicians from Quebec and to cheer delightedly at a recording of Gen. de Gaulle's "vive le Quebec libre" speech.

Opponents of fusion, led by Mr. Andre Ferretti, considered the RIN to be a left-wing socialist party, saying that joining with the RN could only be done at the expense of the RIN's traditional philosophy.

OTTAWA—Robert Stanfield, national Progressive Conservative leader, next week plunges into a "total immersion" course on speaking French.

He will go to Montreal and for seven days will speak not a single word of English. He will be "living" French.

The new Conservative leader, according to his staff, reads French "reasonably well." He can make his way without too much difficulty through a speech text or a book.

But like other English-speaking Canadians he encounters difficulty when attempting to speak the French language in conversation with French-speaking Canadians.

Mr. Stanfield will absent himself from his customary observation post in the galleries in Parliament next week.

2,500 JOIN IN SONG Parade of Nations Stirs Emotions At Mass Service

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Times Church Editor

A pageant of nations moved down the floodlit centre aisle of the Memorial Arena Sunday night.

Shimmering in the white light were the many-hued costumes of China, Japan, India, Norway, Holland, Sweden, Poland, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

If there is such a thing as a national costume of England, it was missing. The rest represented the settlers of Canada, and with them came a man and woman attired in the beaded buckskins of Canada's first inhabitants—the Indians.

Such was the impressive opening to a Thanksgiving Centennial service directed by Allan Purdy and produced for the Greater Victoria Centennial Society by Jerry Gosley.

2,500 Sing Out

As the stately procession entered the arena, an audience of more than 2,500 rose and joined in the singing of the hymn, Raise We Our Song.

They were led by a 200-voice choir, conducted by Rodney Webster, and accompanied by the Victoria Salvation Army Band under the direction of Larry Rowett.

The procession was headed by a color party of Rover Scouts and a guard of honor composed of Girl Guides, Boy Scouts and Venturer Scouts.

Behind them came the clergy of most Victoria churches and officials of the B.C. government, the judiciary, the University of Victoria, Mayor Hugh Stephen and reeves of the municipalities.

Rich Pattern

As the dignitaries took their seats on a flag-draped platform, the Guides and Scouts and representatives of ethnic groups gathered alongside the mass choir at the far end of the arena.

Their uniforms blended with the robes of many church choirs to create a rich pattern of color.

Dr. S. J. Parsons, president of the Greater Victoria Council of Churches, opened the service with a call to worship.

Archdeacon C. E. F. Wolf of the Anglican Church offered a prayer of confession in which he said:

"We have been indifferent to the needs of others and have given little thought to those who suffer want or injustice."

"We have framed policies in which were seeds of discord and strife; and pronounced unjust and bitter judgments on other nations."

"We have stained the life of our nation by tolerating social evils, and have exploited our fellow men."

The massed choirs, conducted by Rodney Webster, with Richard Proudman at the organ, sang the Anthem for the Centennial of Canadian Confederation (Healy Willan) and The Heavens Are Telling from Haden's Creation.

Rev. A. G. Faraday, Command Chaplain, Maritime Pacific, gave the address and Rev. A. E. Leonard of the Roman Catholic diocese of Victoria gave the closing prayers and benediction.

Share Cultures

In his address, Mr. Faraday said:

"Canada has many complexities and a diversity of race and culture. But we can resolve these difficulties if we are united in a strong faith and a strong sense of our destiny as a nation."

"Don't let us create cultural ghettos. Let us share these God-given cultures and learn from them so that we can build a nation of strength and purpose in the century to come."

SAANICH TOLD:

'Take What You Can Pay For'

The lawyer representing the McRae family today suggested two ways Saanich can pay for the 132-acre family property.

But neither suggestion meets an offer of $900,000 made by Saanich last month following an arbitration board award of $1.2 million.

"It seems to me that if council does not have sufficient money to pay for the whole of the property—132 acres—they should take what they can pay for—100 acres—and leave the McRae family in peace on the rest," said Robert Price.

"Alternatively, they might pay the remaining $300,000 in time payments as they have done in the purchase of the Lambick property (in Gordon Head)."

Saanich set aside about $800,000 in a ratepayer-approved capital budget two years ago for buying the McRae estate. Just over $200,000 was allowed for contingencies for this and other capital items.

Mr. Price said council is proposing to expropriate the family property at "$300,000 less than its judicially-determined value."

"If the McRae family will not give up their property at council's price, Saanich, as an alternative, may abandon the property which they took in October, 1966."

In so doing they would, their solicitor advises, refuse to pay the interest charges accruing on the award since the taking—some $72,000—and which is specified to be paid under Sections 478 sub-section (1) and 501 sub-section (2) of the Municipal Act.

Louis Lindholm, who has represented Saanich in the McRae matter, was not available at press time for comment.

HASN'T PAID

"It should be noted," said Mr. Price, "that the municipality has over the past year received, kept and deprived the McRae family of the rents from the (Cedar Hill) golf course and has had the use and ownership of the property (excepting only the family home which the McRaes have been permitted to use) though it has not paid a cent for it."

"Couns. Alan Newberry, Edith Gunning and Digby Keir in a particular demonstration a limited knowledge of land values when they decided on the arbitrators' appointment at their instigation—and even less of business ethics and the rule of law when they seek to circumvent it."

Mr. Price was making his first comment since Saanich council agreed to offer $900,000 for the property at its last meeting.

Saanich wants to acquire the property as a permanent park and recreation area.

Two Fined $75 For Shoe Theft At City Store

Two men who put on new shoes and walked out of the Bay Saturday were fined $75 each in magistrate's court today.

Jocelyn Raymond, 19, of Oakbury, Ont., and Daniel Boucher, 20, of Quebec, airmen taking a course at CFB Esquimalt, pleaded guilty to theft under $50.

Infant Chokes to Death On Wood Screw From Crib

A 14-month old child choked to death Saturday on a one-inch wooden screw apparently from its crib.

Charles Patrick Dobbey, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. L. Dobbey, of 763 Goldstream, was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by ambulance where efforts of doctors failed to remove the obstruction in time.

A coroner's inquiry was conducted. Besides his parents the child

103-YEAR-OLD WOMAN DIES AT WEST SAANICH

Mrs. Josephine Bill, believed to be the oldest Indian resident on South Vancouver Island, died Monday at her 10403 West Saanich Road home.

She was 103.

Earlier this year she received a Centennial Medal at a reception at Deep Cove. At the time she recalled as a girl travelling by canoe to Vancouver and up the Fraser River.

She was a member of the Tseycum (Patricia Bay) Indian Band.

'Land Banks' Proposed For Future Subdivisions

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell today proposed the three levels of government combine to establish "land banks" for future subdivisions as a method of cutting housing costs.

He also advocated a system of making the subsidized land available to private consortiums who would design, build and finance huge subdivisions.

These were among the leading ideas he brought back from an international convention in Sweden and personal visits to housing projects outside Stockholm, Paris and London.

He said his visits convinced him that leaving all planning and financing of housing to public authorities would not produce answers but there were several ways in which the public sector could assist private individuals materially.

"If there is a role for the public sector to play, I would say it would be that the three government levels get together to develop land banks something like our regional parks idea," he told a press conference.

He said this would amount to the governments buying land now that obviously would be useful someday for housing development and reserving it for that purpose. Some of it could be leased out during the interval but the important thing would "be to have it at economic prices and hold it for 50 years if need be."

MISSING MAN WALKS OUT TIRED, WET

While police searched the woods at Shawngnan Lake navyman Stan Cameron, 36, of Esquimalt walked out to Port Renfrew Road this morning. Cameron had been missing since Sunday afternoon when he took off on a deer hunt by himself.

Drying himself out at the Shawngnan home of Art Boyd, he said: "I got caught in heavy rain and thick fog and decided to light a fire and wait it out."

Cameron is an experienced hunter but did not know the area he went into this weekend.

He came out of the woods about 10:30 a.m. today at the junction of the Port Renfrew Road and Kapur Road and flagged down Bobby Gregson of Duncan who was driving to work.

RCMP had been out searching from the early hours today and were still in the woods at press time.

City Store Hit Hard By Blaze

$150,000 Damage Feared Among Home Furnishings

Damage may run as high as $150,000 in a fire at Continental Home Supply, 841 Johnson Street, early Monday morning.

City firemen fought the fire to a standstill by 7:45, one hour after the first alarm.

Deputy fire chief Carl Coates said it appears the fire, originated in the office area at the back of the store.

The fire was confined to that area, but the entire stock of furniture, electrical appliances and other home furnishings was damaged heavily by smoke and heat.

Store manager Charles Kenyon said the stock was valued between $125,000 and $150,000.

NOTHING SALVAGABLE

"It appears not one article on the main floor is salvagable," said Mr. Kenyon.

Some of the stock was stored in the Suzie-Q Billiards building behind. That stock is heavily damaged by smoke; and the floor of the billiard parlor, was damaged by water.

At press time, no estimate of

Chinatown Celebration For Deputy

Celebrations in Chinatown will climax a visit to Victoria Friday of the deputy vice-president of the Republic of China, Huang Shao-Ku, Mrs. Huang and a Formosan party.

The party, on a 10-day visit to Canada, will be greeted at Patricia Bay airport Thursday at 5:55 p.m. by Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes, Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Mrs. Bonner.

They will drive to the Empress Hotel, later attending a dinner at Government House at 8.

On Friday at 10:35 a.m. they will meet Premier Bennett and members of the cabinet at the Legislative Buildings.

After signing the Golden Book, Vice-President Huang will leave at 10:55 a.m. for the City Hall where he will be greeted by Mayor Hugh Stephen and Mrs. Stephen.

SCENIC DRIVE

The party will tour Centennial Square before leaving at 11:30 a.m. for a scenic drive and lunch at the Oak Bay Marina.

At 4:30 p.m. the party will attend a reception to be given by the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association at 636 Fisgard Street.

They will be greeted by Jack Lee, president of the association.

A guard of honor composed of the Victoria Chinatown Lions Club Drum and Bell Corps, Baton Corps and Chinese Public School children, will welcome the group in Chinatown.

At 6 p.m., they will attend a dinner at the Chinese Village Restaurant at 755 Finlayson Street, to be given by Mr. Lee.

The party will leave Victoria for Vancouver from Patricia Bay Airport at 9 p.m.

Two More Frigates To Face Scrapyard

Two more Pacific Maritime Command frigates will be en route to Japanese scrapyards later this month.

Only one of the command's seven frigates, Beacon Hill, now has an undecided future. She is a de-commissioned last reserve and is lying in cold storage here, stripped of weapons and equipment.

The two latest ships Japan-bound are the New Glasgow and the Sussexvale which will be picked up about Oct. 21 by the Japanese tug Daisy and taken to Osaka.

They will follow two other frigates which cleared Esquimalt harbor Monday for the last time as they headed for the Oriental scrapyards.

HUGE TUG

The 1,570-ton Antigoni and the Ste. Therese started their 20-day voyage behind the 1,800-ton Amariyis, one of the world's largest sea-going tugs from Osaka.

Both frigates are 23 years old.

Driver Injured After Dozing

Edmond Bryans, 43, 551 Oliver Street, was treated in hospital early Sunday morning after he fell asleep driving his car.

Oak Bay police report Bryans was driving south on the 800-block Oliver when his car struck a parked car.

He was released from Royal Jubilee Hospital's emergency ward after treatment for cuts and abrasions.

Ask The Times

Q. Did Sir John A. Macdonald ever hold a seat in Victoria? J.M.

A. Yes, between 1878 and 1882. He was defeated in his home riding of Kingston and ran in Victoria where he was elected as one of the city's two members. The other was publisher Amos de Cosmos. Sir John was prime minister while he was Victoria's member but he did not come here during his tenure as MP for the area but did visit Victoria in 1886. That was the only time he was here.

FIRST RACE — Concise Answer may have caught too much mud in his last; the stretch kick wasn't there. But with this style he's no cinch at the short price. Miss Mystic is a possibility from the pole. Dody Dear gets the hot boy and off some trys has a shot. Karcey Kid should be a lot fresher than these and could be a factor. If Lady of Kent draws in she may be the one they'll have to fear. She can come off the pace is shopping for brackets. Jokellina switches to Sam who gets a lot of run from them. . . LADY OF KENT, Concise Answer, Jokellina.

SECOND RACE — If they were running on a fast strip Princess Maya would probably roll out in front and dare them to catch her. She still may but without a race over the track, no race in fact for a month and the outside, it's asking a lot. Mobil Maid can hum early and Some Stand, dropping 10 lbs., present first turn opposition for the Princess. Jayleen moves up in the mud and despite adding six lbs. warrants serious consideration. With all the speed the race could set up for Sly Alibi. He likes the off going and if Broomfield can find the holes that may be it. . . SLY ALIBI, Some Stand, Jayleen.

THIRD RACE — It will be in interesting to see what the stable will do with Jaylee. When they took her off the pace she showed a winning late run. Last time they elected to run with Parisienne Pixie and found it couldn't be done. If they take her back here and allow Coquahalla (who switches to Coppernoll) and Ann's Treasure (who drops two lbs.) to fight it out early, she could be the danger. Chase with his best could be a menace and Dark Susan has a shot at the weights from the pole. . . JAYLEE, Ann's Treasure, Coquahalla.

FOURTH RACE — With two races over the track Sikkani Chief should be acclimatized and ready for his best. He seems capable of staying close to the leaders and coming on and the boy knows what it's all about. Cherie Q (who seems to go well from the inside), Trevers Torchy and Miss Electric are the early hotshots from the jock in the second flight. Seven L may be the one to fear. Frazier stays with Happy Dee who has been marooning without success. . . SIKKANI CHIEF, Seven L, Salemton.

FIFTH RACE — Souzen is a trouble-maker. That is, he makes his own trouble. He gets too far out or runs into a switch or catches palls of mud. If Shields can avoid Souzen's customary palls he's the one to beat. Ready Freddy and Daviana should lead them away; the former tends to head for the exits early, the latter tries hard. Rondocal is better than her last shows, switches to Andrews and merits a long look. Whip N Binkers is hard to figure. Magic Shan wasn't disgraced and these aren't world-beaters. . . SOUZEN, Daviana, Rondocal.

SIXTH RACE — Holo Fire drew the ideal post for his runaway style, is sharp, and a true mud-lark. But whether he draws

CASTELLANI GIRL HURT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jeanne Castellani, 13, daughter of a man sentenced to be hanged Jan. 23 for the arsenic poisoning of his wife, was in only fair condition in a hospital today.

The girl, a key witness at her father's trial, was hit by a police car chasing a traffic violator Saturday on a rain-slicked street. She suffered a broken arm, a broken leg and face cuts when she was thrown 95 feet by the impact.

Two companions with the girl were not hurt. Rene Castellani was convicted last week by a Supreme Court jury on a capital murder charge.

Monument To Pro-Nazi Unveiled

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI) — Premier John Vorster unveiled a monument today to a leader of a pro-Nazi organization who led a militant struggle against South Africa's participation in the Second World War on the side of the Allies.

It was one of Vorster's most controversial actions since becoming premier 13 months ago.

The monument honoring the late Dr. Hans van Rensburg, commandant general of the Ossewa Brandwag (Oswagon Sentinal) organization, stands in a cemetery in Lyttelton near Pretoria.

Van Rensburg was administrator (governor) of Cape and Orange Free State provinces and an outspoken admirer of Hitler. He gave up public life to lead the militant struggle against South Africa's participation in the war on the side of the Allies.

No Time To Launch Lifeboats

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Ships and planes converged on a spot in the North Pacific today, where 42 crew members jumped from a sinking freighter.

The U.S. Coast Guard said the crew of the Panoeanic Faith leaped into the water as the 459-foot vessel sank shortly before dark Monday about 570 miles southwest of Kodiak, Alaska.

One of five merchant vessels which sped to the rescue, the Japanese freighter Igaharu Maru, radioed "some bodies" had been picked up and "two men were reported to be alive."

The survivors were identified as Gordon Campbell and Lewis E. Gray. Addresses were unavailable.

In New York, the ship's owners reported the master of the vessel, Capt. John F. Ogles of Alexandria, Va., had also been picked up.

Military planes which flew to the scene just after radio calls for assistance were received from the stricken vessel dropped rubber life rafts to crew members bobbing in life jackets and the pilot of a navy plane reported he saw several men climb into them.

Guevara Slain In Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Bolivia today officially announced the death of Ernesto (Che) Guevara, revolutionary and former right-hand man of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, in a battle with United States-trained Bolivian rangers.

A communique from the Bolivian armed forces said Guevara was one of seven guerrillas shot and killed in a clash Sunday at Higuera, between Alto Seco and Vallegrande in southeast Bolivia.

Four of the guerrillas slain were of Cuban nationality, the official statement reported.

The statement was the first official confirmation of Guevara's death, rumored since news of the Higuera clash was first made public.

Wet Expo Crowd Boos Margaret, Snowdon

MONTREAL (CP) — Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon were booed and shouted at by an irate crowd of Expo 67 visitors Monday.

The incident flared at the pavilion of Czechoslovakia on Notre Dame Island, where hundreds of visitors who had stood in a miserable driving drizzle for up to three hours waiting to see the pavilion reacted to the news that it was being closed for the duration of her visit.

The royal couple swept into the pavilion in the centre of a tight ring of plainclothes RCMP men and gave no indication that they had heard the loud booing.

An attendant at the pavilion door said the showplace had been closed to the public 20 minutes before the royal arrival to ensure them an uncrowded tour.

Neither France nor Mexico, pavilions she had just finished touring, closed its doors to the public during the visit.

It was at least the third time personalities had been booed at the Czech pavilion for causing a temporary shutdown.

Armin' an rearmin' all them Arabs is tough on th' Russian taxpayers.

Seems there was this horse with nothin' in its brain cavity. Sure it wuz a horse?

We'll feel better about this stuff when it's pourin' through th' new waterworks tunnel.

Last Friday evening, Jacqueline Kennedy, widow of President Kennedy, was booed as she arrived after causing the lineup to wait for 1½ hours in biting cold.

Recently the Shah of Iran got the same treatment when his tour closed the pavilion.

Harshest comments on the Monday close-down came from the 50 or so persons at the head of the lineup who could see the reason for the delay.

"Why weren't we told?" screamed Mrs. S. T. Abbott who would only say she came from Louisiana. She had been waiting three hours to get in.

"It's an absolutely disgusting situation," said Simon Fraser, of Dundee, Scotland. "The least they could have said was that we would have to wait for another half-hour."

"We wouldn't mind so much if someone had warned us that she was coming," said Hulda Blaufus of Seattle, Wash. "I've only got two days at Expo and one has practically been spent here."

At the French pavilion, Expo visitors passed through the royal party as they went around, looking at the exhibits.

Princess Margaret wore a deep gold suit with black accessories, tiny earrings and a watch-band about 1½ inches wide.

Lord Snowdon wore a moss-green suit, a dark green shirt, and sand-colored desert boots. They arrived in Montreal Saturday and their Expo tour ends Thursday.

QUEBEC (CP) — Acting Premier Paul Dozois called an emergency session of the provincial cabinet for today to deal with the strike by 6,000 Montreal bus and subway workers.

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Relative calm has returned to Peking, the Soviet news agency Tass said Monday.

Quoting unidentified reports reaching here from the Communist Chinese capital, Tass said the calm followed the return to school Oct. 2 of the teen-age Red Guards, supporters of Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

Reports in provincial newspapers and local radio broadcasts indicated calm also has returned to several provinces, Tass said. But it added that the calm is the result of compromises between the Red Guards and local officials and military officers—and not the result of Red Guard victories.

"I'm anything but finished with Broadway," said the theatre owner. "But the next time, I won't jump in with my eyes shut."

He described his Broadway debut as "a bit like going through a wedding and a funeral in about two hours."

"We knew from the beginning we were taking a gamble, and we gambled on the wrong play."

SOVIET

Defence Budget Boosted

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Kremlin today announced a 15-per-cent increase in Russian defence spending for 1968 because of international tension and the need to boost aid to other countries.

Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov told the Supreme Soviet, Russia's Parliament, that defence expenditures would rise to 16,700,000,000 rubles ($18,700,000,000) in 1968 from 14,500,000,000 rubles ($16,200,000,000) this year.

The 1966-67 U.S. defence budget was $67,000,000,000 and President Johnson has asked a $72,300,000,000 defence allotment for the 1967-68 fiscal year.

Although Moscow recently signed a new aid agreement under which it would send North Vietnam more rockets, planes and other equipment, Garbuzov did not single out Hanoi as a recipient of military aid.

But, explaining the allocation of 13.5 per cent of the total budget to defence, Garbuzov said "international tension calls for greater attention to the strengthening of the defence potential."

LARGEST IN A YEAR

The increase, largest boost to military spending in one year by the Kremlin, was made necessary by the need to increase assistance to other countries, the finance minister said.

He was speaking to a joint session of the two houses of the Supreme Soviet.

In addition to the budget, the 1,517 delegates were expected to give assent to a state plan for 1968 and a bill on military service believed to reduce the period served to two from three years.

The total budget for 1968 provided for revenue of 123,800,000,000 rubles ($138,600,000,000)—or an increase of 8.3 per cent compared with this year.

Expenditure during 1968 will total 123,500,000,000 rubles ($138,300,000,000).

The defence increase was only 0.3 per cent as a total of the over-all budget.

Garbuzov also announced that income for 1967 would be 115,000,000,000 rubles ($128,800,000,000) or four per cent more than envisaged in the 1967 budget approved by the Supreme Soviet in December.

Expenditure also was higher than originally budgeted for, reaching 114,000,000,000 rubles ($127,700,000,000) instead of 108,900,000,000 rubles ($123,000,000,000).

The increase in defence spending was disclosed in budget figures which Western experts believe hide other military spending.

Truant Raid In Hippie Area

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A phalanx of policemen swept through the Haight-Ashbury district Monday and arrested 32 suspected juvenile school truants.

The youngsters, many of them barefooted and mini-skirted, were hauled off to Park police station in mid-afternoon. Eleven, including Timothy Leary's son John, were released when they convinced officers they were over 18 or had completed high school.

Of the 21 who were held, 12 admitted being runaways.

Guevara, 39, fell at the head of a group of 20 to 25 guerrillas, cut off from a second band of similar size and isolated by a force of 184 Bolivian rangers.

The army said four rangers were killed and four wounded in the clash, described officially as a fierce fight.

The bodies of the slain guerrillas were airlifted by helicopter into Vallegrande where government medical experts today confirmed the identity of Guevara by scientific means.

Newsman who saw the corpse at the Vallegrande morgue said Guevara was shot in the throat and body and that his legs had been nearly severed by a burst of machine-gun fire.

First positive identification of Guevara was made by Col. Joaquin Zenteno Anaya, head of the Bolivian 8th Division unit which fought the guerrillas.

FINGERPRINTS CHECKED

The government subsequently flew a group of 22 fingerprint and medical experts and newsmen to Vallegrande to confirm the identification.

Armed forces chief Gen. Alfredo Ovando also flew to Vallegrande to make the official announcement of Guevara's death.

The Bolivians reported that Guevara was using the pseudonym of "Maj. Ramon" with the guerrillas. They said Guevara had been leading the insurrectionary movement in the country since its inception last March.

Only last month Bolivia presented to the Organization of American States more than 100 slides and photographs of Guevara in the field in Bolivia, including his fingerprints and personal diary.

Bolivian Foreign Minister Walter Arze said Guevara had slipped into Bolivia disguised as a paunchy and balding man, using a forged Uruguayan passport.

EDUCATED AS DOCTOR

Fingerprints were supplied by Argentina where Guevara was born in 1928 and educated as a physician and surgeon.

Following a revolutionary career throughout half a dozen Latin American countries, Guevara joined the Castro brothers, Fidel and Raul, in Mexico in 1956 and injected himself into their campaign against the Batista dictatorship. He was subsequently made a Cuban citizen by decree and served in various government posts.

Guevara dropped out of sight in Havana in March, 1965, and seven months later Castro disclosed he had left the country to take up duties elsewhere in the revolutionary world.

Man Fined, Suspended For Impaired Driving

Victor Sinclair, 43, of 3144 Harriet Road, today was fined $350 and had his licence suspended for impaired driving.

Sinclair was charged in central court after police observed him driving in an erratic manner west on Gorge Road at 12:15 a.m. today.

Sleek New Tank Unveiled

Orekhovo, a Norwegian vessel, the Visund, and the Pan American Steel Seafarer joined the search for the Panoeceanic Faith crew early today.

The crew of the stricken ship first radioed for help at 2:55 p.m. PDT Monday, saying her decks were being swept by 20-foot waves, her No. 1 and No. 2 holds were filling with water, the engines were failing and she was in danger of sinking.

In New York City, Augustus S. Polemis, president of the company which owns the Panoeceanic Faith, said it carried "a very good crew."

The company, Panoeceanic Tankers Corp., said Capt. Ogles, had been a master for the company since 1961, and identified the chief engineer as Harry K. Bradley, Glendale, Calif.

The ship, built in 1945, was to have refuelled at Yokohama, Japan, on its way to India.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Army showed off for the first time Monday a sleek new tank that it figures is the world's fastest and most sophisticated.

Four years in the making, the MBT-70 is a joint product of the United States and West Germany. When it enters production—probably in the early 1970s—components of a German-made one could be swapped with those made in the U.S. and vice-versa.

The 152-mm. gun will have a take-your-choice capability in ammunition. A tank commander can instantly switch from firing conventional shells and begin shooting a guided missile from the gun.

Most specifications such as speed and armor are secret.

Only two prototypes of the new tank exist, one on each side of the Atlantic.

The MBT-70—short for main battle tank—will be put through exhaustive field tests as soon as additional prototypes are ready.

It has improved ability to "button up" and operate under water and a unique suspension system that allows the tank to "squat" while moving, reducing its height by more than a foot.

Radioactive shielding, one official said, "enables us to stay in a radioactive area longer and to get much closer to an atomic burst."

$1798. 60 h.p.

The Toyota Corolla has more horsepower than any other car in its class. That means it has more get up and go. So you get out on the highway faster. And you pass cars with more confidence. And you don't slow down to a crawl trying to creep over a big hunk of hill.

That means you're safer. That's not all. That $1798 figure includes all the "extras". You get a big 3-speed heater. Individual front seats that tilt and move back and forth—for plenty of leg room. An alternator. A double-barrelled carburetor. 4-speed synchro-mesh transmission. Windshield washer. Padded dash and sun visors. And because the engine is up front you get more luggage space in the rear. You also get up to 40 miles per gallon and a car that never needs greasing.

All for $1798*. That's all.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Skies were cloudy and temperatures mild over most of B.C. early this morning. The highest minimum reading overnight was 63 at Lytton. The west coast of Vancouver Island reported steady rain and southeasterly gales.

A moist southwesterly flow of mild Pacific air will maintain unsettled weather in most sections of B.C. for the next 48 hours. Periods of sunshine are forecast for the southern interior, however, under the influence of a weak ridge of high pressure.
